6 Slayings Laid To Kill-Crazy Nebraska Boy

Youth, 19, Sought Along with His Girl Friend, 15

BENNET, Neb. (AP)—Wary officers pressed their search today for a pair described as a kill-crazy teen-ager and his 15-year-old girl friend wanted in connection with six grisly killings.

Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele prepared a first-degree murder charge against green-eyed, red-haired Charles Starkweather, 19, about 140 pounds and 5 feet 5, who has a reputation as a sharpshooting hunter.

Scheele said he will file a similar charge against Starkweather's girl friend, Carl Fugate.

Traveling in pairs through the night, officers made a house-by-house check on farms in the Bennett area without finding a trace of either of the teen-agers.

Armed farmers joined the search. Their families spent a sleepless night behind locked doors.

Bennet, 16 miles southeast of Lincoln, is only about 50 miles from the Kansas, Iowa and Missouri state lines. Officers in those states were on the alert.

IN MOUNT Vernon, Iowa, two truckers involved in an accident reported flagging down a car whose occupants fitted the description of the hunted pair.

The truckers reported the driver of the car, which bore Oregon license plates, as saying, "I want nothing to do with the law. How do I get to Chicago?"

Starkweather and the girl had been sought since Monday night when three members of Carl's family were found slain at their home in Lincoln.

Four of the victims died with rifle bullets in their heads. Another was shot in the head with a shotgun. The other, a 2-year-old child, apparently died of a fractured skull.

William Fugate, father of Carl, said he hoped officers would "get" Starkweather, even at the risk of his daughter's life.

He said he didn't think his daughter was dead but would "come home as soon as she can make a break."

Starkweather was described as an expert marksman by his brother Rodney. Rodney added that Charles always has been ready and willing fighter and "always shot his game in the head."

The teen-age pair had been traced south out of Lincoln. When officers converged on a farm 16 miles southeast where Starkweather's car was found Tuesday, they discovered three more bodies.

ONE VICTIM was August Meyer, 70, bachelor at whose farm Starkweather used to hunt squirrels with his father. The other two, their bodies tossed into a storm cellar at an abandoned school site about a quarter of a mile away, were Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, her 17-year-old high school boy friend. A pool of blood showed they had been shot.

All three had been shot in the back of the head, Meyer with a shotgun and the other two with a small-caliber weapon.

The other three victims, Carl Fugate's mother, Velma Bartlett, 37, her stepfather Marion Bartlett, 57, and their 2-year-old daughter Betty Jean were found dead at the family home Monday night.

Michigan Dog Law Labeled 'Barbaric'

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Dogs get a better break in Russia than in Michigan, says a woman legislator. Mrs. Lucille McCollough, a Democrat and dog owner from Dearborn, assailed Michigan's dog law as "the most barbaric in the United States of America."

"People who complain about the Russians who sent up the dog in Sputnik should look at what can happen to them right here in Michigan," she told the House Agriculture Committee.

The law now permits a landowner outside a city to shoot a trespassing dog on sight. A proposed amendment would permit farmers to kill a dog only if it is molesting livestock or poultry.

Dulles Hints More Aid for Mideast

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles reportedly assured the Baghdad Pact allies today the United States will give sympathetic consideration to new financial aid for projects to raise Middle East living standards when present funds are exhausted.

Senior diplomats attending the conference of Baghdad Pact premiers and foreign ministers emphasized, however, that Dulles gave no firm commitment to make any specific grant.

He took this attitude, they said, despite considerable pressure from the four Moslem member nations of the alliance — Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan.

Busted Drill Instructor Wins Honors

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (AP)—When then-Secretary of Navy Charles Thomas reduced Matthew C. McKeon's general court-martial sentence for leading the Parris Island, S. C., "death march," the Marine drill instructor vowed:

"I'll try to be the very best private in the Marine Corps."

That was in late 1956, several months after the April 8 night march of Recruit Platoon 71 into a tidal stream where six recruits drowned.

Pfc. McKeon appears on the way toward realizing his vow. He has been named the January "Marine of the Month" by the All Weather Fighter Squadron 114 here of which he is a member.

McKeon's selection also gave prophetic meaning to Thomas' explanation that he reduced the sentence to give McKeon an opportunity to "build for himself a useful and honorable career. I hope and believe that he will avail himself of this opportunity."

The Marine of the Month was chosen by vote of squadron members from among nominees selected for proficiency, bearing, disposition and conduct.

"I really appreciate the squadron's action," said the career Marine from Worcester, Mass.

Ohio Pen Warden, Trusty Injured

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Penitentiary Warden Ralph W. Alvis and trusty Solly Hart, Cleveland murderer, were injured today when their car hit a dump truck east of Columbus.

Doctors feared Alvis, 53, might lose his right eye. He was taken to surgery at St. Anthony's Hospital immediately. He also suffered severe face cuts.

Hart, 51, suffered internal injuries. A former Cleveland underworld figure, he was convicted nearly 20 years ago of the Mahoning County slaying of Roy (Happy) Marion. He has been the warden's driver most of his years in prison.

Greater Power For Defense Chief Talked

Proposal Hinted Part Of New Proposal Being Readied Now by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Greatly increased authority for the secretary of defense reportedly is included in the Eisenhower administration's preliminary planning for Pentagon reorganization.

Authoritative sources said the tentative recommendations would give Secretary McElroy broad new powers to control military spending.

This would be in line with one of the proposals made to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee by retired Gen. Lucius Clay, long-time adviser and close personal friend of President Eisenhower.

Clay, a member of the Rockefeller study committee which recommended defense reorganization recently, said the secretary now has "practically no control" over money Congress makes available to individual services. He said McElroy could cancel a missile project he found unfeasible, but could not use the funds to finance a more promising missile project under development by another service.

CLAY ALSO recommended a single military command, with the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff being given authority to assign roles and missions to the individual services.

There has been criticism in Congress of the dual role of three of the Joint Chiefs, who are responsible for operating individual services while being called upon to do over-all military planning. Only the chairman, who has no vote, is free of direct links and operational responsibilities.

McElroy has said the Joint Chiefs of Staff are doing a good job of military planning for both short and long-range emergencies. In view of McElroy's stand, informed members of Congress doubt the administration will propose a single command. But they expect a recommendation for more flexibility in assigning roles and missions of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said after a White House conference that Eisenhower may send Congress a series of separate reorganization proposals rather than a single comprehensive plan.

The Senate Armed Services Committee approved a preliminary defense funds authorization measure, also passed by the House.

The committee recommended $29,670,000 for the aircraft detection system known as semiautomatic ground environment; 189 millions for a ballistic missiles detection system; $112,400,000 for ballistic missiles bases; and 194 millions for dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.

Stan Musial Gets $20,000 Pay Hike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, already the highest-paid baseball player in National League history, signed with the St. Louis Cardinals today and got a raise of around $20,000 to hike his 1958 salary to nearly $100,000.

Since 1952 Musial's salary had been $80,000 a season.

The boost made Musial, three times the most valuable player in the National League, the second highest paid player active today.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox received $100,000 last year and reportedly will get $125,000 in 1958.

Blackboard Jungle Boycott Urged by Brooklyn Prober

NEW YORK (AP)—The foreman of a special grand jury investigating crime in Brooklyn public schools has suggested that parents have their children boycott schools where crime is prevalent.

Foreman A. George Golden made the suggestion at a jury session Tuesday.

At the time, the grand jury had not yet learned that George Goldfarb, 55, principal of violence-tormented John Marshall Junior High School in Brooklyn, had plunged to death from the roof of his home.

The district attorney's office pronounced him a suicide.

County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz promised to study Golden's proposal.

When notified of Goldfarb's death, Golden said the jurors will call in Board of Education officials to find out whether the principal had been under pressure or had been threatened with disciplinary action for reportedly telling the jurors last Thursday that he would like to have a policeman stationed inside his school.

Major Ohio Roads Still Slick in Spots

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state's major highways are slippery in spots in areas bounded by a line through Sandusky, Bucyrus, Marion, Mount Vernon, Wooster, Chardon, Painesville and Cleveland, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

Roads also are slippery in spots in the Van Wert, Circleville, McArthur, Logan, McConnelsville and Woodsfield areas, and secondary roads are slippery in spots in the New Lexington and Cambridge areas.

State officials warned that slippery conditions may continue the balance of this week.

The weather bureau predicts near or below-normal temperatures the next few days along with light snow or snow flurries.

Here is the forecast for the next five days:

Temperatures will average from near-normal in the north to about 3 degrees below normal extreme south. Normal high: 34 north; 40 south. Normal low: 19-23. Only mild daily temperature changes expected. Light snow or snow flurries throughout most of the period.

Free Milk Denied To Pennsy Babies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission says its sorry, but it must prevent milk dealers from giving free milk to babies.

The commission Tuesday fined two Sunbury area dealers $50 each because they had donated milk for a period to the first babies born in that area in 1958.

"Our hands are tied by law," commented Commissioner Simon K. Uhl.

The law limits a dealer to distribution of only one free quart of milk to a prospective customer in a six-month period.

Army Pays Out $1,748 in Girard Slaying

OMAGAHARA, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Army claims officer today delivered 629,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman William S. Girard shot to death.

Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haefele, Nacoma, Tex., added 604 yen ($1.40) of his own to bring the payment of "consolation money" to a round 630,000 yen. Then he knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the mud to put flowers on her grave.

Akikichi Sakai, the husband of the scrap scavenger Girard killed while on guard duty on an Army firing range, said in accepting the money: "I don't want to receive money at the cost of my wife. However, I think to refuse any longer would go against the sympathy of the people so I hereby received this money but I do not thank you for it."

"I will spend it for my children's future including education, clothing and food. Also, I will build a tombstone for my wife."

Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court given a three-year suspended sentence and sent home to Illinois for discharge. He claimed the killing was a mistake. The court decided he was "childish."

Soviet Envoy Said Pressing Arms Accord

WASHINGTON (AP)—Georgi Zarubin, Russia's departing ambassador, is reported to have urged Harold Stassen to continue working for a disarmament pact.

The meeting between the two men, a secret until Tuesday, took place Jan. 15 at the State Department, and was said to have been requested by the Soviet envoy. Stassen is the administration's disarmament adviser.

Informed sources said Zarubin's discussion with Stassen apparently reflected continued Soviet interest in some sort of limited arms reduction agreement.

Stassen is said to have pressed the Russian for a favorable reply to President Eisenhower's Jan. 12 letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin. The President indicated in that message a willingness to attend an East-West summit conference if preparatory talks on a lower level resulted in real progress on major issues.

Reports that Zarubin invited Stassen to visit the Soviet were denied by the sources disclosing the conversation.

Zarubin's visit with Stassen, reportedly approved by Secretary of State Dulles, came as Stassen was making a behind-the-scenes effort to get U. S. disarmament policy "liberalized."

a patrolman stationed inside his school. A letter request was mailed Monday night.

Last week a 13-year-old girl at John Marshall reported she had been raped in the school basement by an unidentified boy.

The rape resulted in Goldfarb's appearance before the grand jury. He was due again Tuesday.

Last Thursday, two other incidents involving violence were reported at his school.

Patrolman Thomas Fleming, on duty outside the school, was punched by one of six youths he ordered not to loiter around the building. The school's recreation director was assaulted by a youth in the basement of the school.

The John Marshall student body is 45 per cent Negro and 10 per cent Puerto Rican.

The grand jury also heard testimony that teen- aged hoodlums forced an assistant principal to quit one Brooklyn school under fear of harm, while another youth gang took control of a Brooklyn elementary school and attacked a woman teacher.

British Youth Unavailable as 'Sputnik Boy'

MICKLEOVER, England (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Lloyd Lee has abandoned his dream of becoming the world's first Sputnik boy.

The Soviet Embassy in London may as well ignore Lloyd's letter of Jan. 21 offering to man (or boy) a Sputnik for them. He is no longer available.

Lloyd is a student at the Queen Elizabeth Grammar School, where recently a rumor went the rounds that the Soviet Union stands ready to fork out $140,000 a head for Sputnik skippers.

Lloyd, an imaginative, curly-haired little fellow, fired off a letter of acceptance to the embassy.

Two days ago Lloyd received a letter headed "Russian Embassy" and typed in red, yet. It advised him that he had been chosen as a prospective Sputnik jockey and added: "You will be required to do some training in Siberia. Our agents will be contacting you within the next few days to take you away for training."

"I was frightened out of my wits," his mother said later. A detective assigned to the case reported after an inquiry that no newspaper on the kind used for the letter to Lloyd had been found in a certain upper class desk at Queen Elizabeth Grammar School.

More conclusive still, certain upper classmen confessed writing the letter.

Mrs. Lee, greatly relieved, told a reporter: "Lloyd no longer wishes to be a spaceman."

Fourth Issue Added To GOP Battle Cry

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1956 Republican campaign slogan of "Peace, progress and prosperity" has a fourth "P" (for "preparedness") in the 1958 version.

William H. Rentschler of Illinois, national campaign director of the Young Republican National Federation, suggested the new battle cry.

Rentschler said President Eisenhower got the campaign off to a good start in his speech last week in Chicago and added: "Now it's our job to get the story of Republican peace, progress, prosperity, and preparedness across to the voters. We have high hopes that our efforts will reach a crescendo in November and turn the tide in Congress."

Hess indicated that construction work would begin in the near future. He said the project would be completed in early 1959 or sooner.

It was estimated that about 100 specially-trained technicians would be assigned to the base.

Wilmington sources also report unconfirmed plans for the transfer to the Clinton County Air Force Base of units of the Strategic Air Command. These reportedly would be jet tanker planes used for mid-air refueling of America's giant jet bombers. Units of this type currently are assigned to Lockbourne Air Base which juts into northern Pickaway County.

These reports estimate that 1,200 to 2,000 persons would be required at the Clinton base.

Army Preparing For Firing of First Satellite

Final Countdown Check Believed about to Start at Florida Base

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The zero hour is approaching for the Army's attempt to launch an American earth satellite.

Officially, there is no information on when the Army's Jupiter-C will blast off into space with its 30-pound "moon." There were indications today, however, that the final countdown check of the missile was about to start.

Many experts believe the thoroughly tested Jupiter-C has a much better chance of launching a satellite than the Navy's Vanguard rocket, which has failed to perform in two efforts.

Hurricane-force winds in upper altitudes made uncertain the time of firing. The Air Force Weather Central reported high-level winds of 140 miles an hour. Winds of such velocity could topple the rocket.

Attention shifted momentarily away from the Jupiter-C Tuesday when the Air Force took the stage with a successful firing of its Thor intermediate range ballistic missile.

The spectacular shot on a sunny day was witnessed by thousands of persons in this area. The fiery Thor, with which the Air Force plans to put a satellite into orbit and to hit the moon, was visible for four minutes after its blastoff.

IN STANDARD language used to report a successful shot, the Air Force said the Thor "flew its prescribed course and landed in the preselected impact area." Five of the nine Thors flown from here have performed well.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, told a Senate committee recently the Thor will be used as the first stage of a two-stage vehicle being prepared to put up a recoverable satellite by spring.

By addition of a third stage, he said, unmanned reconnaissance of the moon would be possible at what he called a relatively early date.

Originally, the Thor was designed strictly as a war weapon, to deliver a nuclear warhead 1,500 miles at a speed of about 7,000 m.p.h. More than a dozen of the weapons now have been set aside for use in space research.

Wilmington To Get New Missile Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The general location for four Nike Hercules missile launchers for the defense of the Cincinnati area was announced Tuesday by the Pentagon.

The announcement said the anti-aircraft weapons will be located in the general areas of Dillsboro-Aurora, Ind.; and Oxford, Wilmington and Felicity, Ohio.

The eighth and last Nike missile center in northern Ohio was also announced. It is to be built at Painesville, the 2nd Army said.

Rep. Hess (R - Ohio) reported that the Wilmington area missile base would be made up of two components, one-half to two miles apart. One would be utilized as a control zone, the other for actual firing of the missiles.

Hess indicated that construction work would begin in the near future. He said the project would be completed in early 1959 or sooner.

It was estimated that about 100 specially-trained technicians would be assigned to the base.

Wilmington sources also report unconfirmed plans for the transfer to the Clinton County Air Force Base of units of the Strategic Air Command. Ohio Pen Warden, Trusty Injured

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary Warden Ralph W. Alvis and trusty Solly Hart, Cleveland murderer, were injured today when their car hit a dump truck east of Columbus.

Doctors feared Alvis, 53, might lose his right eye. He was taken to surgery at St. Anthony's Hospital immediately. He also suffered severe face cuts.

Hart, 51, suffered internal injuries. A former Cleveland underworld figure, he was convicted nearly 20 years ago of the Mahoning County slaying of Roy (Happy) Marion. He has been the warden's driver most of his years in prison.

What's This 'First Robbin' Business?

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — This has been as chilly a winter as anyone could wish for, but New Mexico is full of robins.

At least the valleys are full of them. Apparently the mountains are cold enough to drive them down at this time of year.

The game men say that though generally considered a migratory bird, robins sometimes don't go anywhere in the winter.

Greater Power For Defense Chief Talked

Proposal Hinted Part Of New Proposal Being Readied Now by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greatly increased authority for the secretary of defense reportedly is included in the Eisenhower administration's preliminary planning for Pentagon reorganization.

Authoritative sources said the tentative recommendations would give Secretary McElroy broad new powers to control military spending.

This would be in line with one of the proposals made to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee by retired Gen. Lucius Clay, long-time adviser and close personal friend of President Eisenhower.

Clay, a member of the Rockefeller study committee which recommended defense reorganization recently, said the secretary now has "practically no control" over money Congress makes available to individual services.

He said McElroy could cancel a missile project he found unfeasible, but could not use the funds to finance a more promising missile project under development by another service.

CLAY ALSO recommended a single military command, with the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff being given authority to assign roles and missions to the individual services.

There has been criticism in Congress of the dual role of three of the Joint Chiefs, who are responsible for operating individual services while being called upon to do over-all military planning.

Only the chairman, who has no vote, is free of direct links and operational responsibilities.

McElroy has said the Joint Chiefs of Staff are doing a good job of military planning for both short- and long-range emergencies.

In view of McElroy's stand, informed members of Congress doubt the administration will propose a single command. But they expect a recommendation for more flexibility in assigning roles and missions of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said after a White House conference that Eisenhower may send Congress a series of separate reorganization proposals rather than a single comprehensive plan.

The Senate Armed Services Committee approved a preliminary defense funds authorization measure, also passed by the House.

The committee recommended $29,670,000 for the aircraft detection system known as semi-automatic ground environment; 189 millions for a ballistic missile detection system; $112,400,000 for ballistic missile bases; and 194 millions for dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.

Stan Musial Gets $20,000 Pay Hike

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, already the highest-paid baseball player in National League history, signed with the St. Louis Cardinals today and got a raise of around $20,000 to hike his 1958 salary to nearly $100,000.

Since 1952 Musial's salary had been $80,000 a season.

The boost made Musial, three times the most valuable player in the National League, the second highest paid player active today.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox received $100,000 last year and reportedly will get $125,000 in 1958.

Blackboard Jungle Boycott Urged by Brooklyn Prober

NEW YORK (AP) — The foreman of a special grand jury investigating crime in Brooklyn public schools has suggested that parents have their children boycott schools where crime is prevalent.

Foreman A. George Golden made the suggestion at a jury session Tuesday.

At the time, the grand jury had not yet learned that George Goldfarb, 55, principal of violence-tormented John Marshall Junior High School in Brooklyn, had plunged to death from the roof of his home.

The district attorney's office pronounced him a suicide.

County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz promised to study Golden's proposal.

When notified of Goldfarb's death, Golden said the jurors will call in Board of Education officials to find out whether the principal had been under pressure or had been threatened with disciplinary action for reportedly telling the jurors last Thursday that he would like to have a policeman stationed inside his school.

The grand jury and Leibowitz favor stationing a policeman in every school in the city. This suggestion has been turned down by the Board of Education, School Supt. William Jansen and Police Commissioner Stephen Kennedy.

It was disclosed that Goldfarb had notified the police he wanted

Army Pays Out $1,748 in Girard Slaying

OMAGAHARA, Japan (AP) — A U. S. Army claims officer today delivered 629,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman William S. Girard shot to death.

Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haelele, Nacoma, Tex., added 604 yen ($1.40) of his own to bring the payment of "consolation money" to a round 630,000 yen. Then he knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the mud to put flowers on her grave.

Akikichi Sakai, the husband of the scrap scavenger Girard killed while on guard duty on an Army firing range, said in accepting the money: "I don't want to receive money at the cost of my wife. However, I think to refuse any longer would go against the sympathy of the people so I hereby received this money but I do not thank you for it."

"I will spend it for my children's future including education, clothing and food. Also, I will build a tombstone for my wife."

Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court given a three-year suspended sentence and sent home to Illinois for discharge. He claimed the killing was a mistake. The court decided he was "childish."

Soviet Envoy Said Pressing Arms Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgi Zarubin, Russia's departing ambassador, is reported to have urged Harold Stassen to continue working for a disarmament pact.

The meeting between the two men, a secret until Tuesday, took place Jan. 15 at the State Department, and was said to have been requested by the Soviet envoy. Stassen is the administration's disarmament adviser.

Informed sources said Zarubin's discussion with Stassen apparently reflected continued Soviet interest in some sort of limited arms reduction agreement.

Stassen is said to have pressed the Russian for a favorable reply to President Eisenhower's Jan. 12 letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin. The President indicated in that message a willingness to attend an East-West summit conference if preparatory talks on a lower level resulted in real progress on major issues.

Reports that Zarubin invited Stassen to visit the Soviet were denied by the sources disclosing the conversation.

Zarubin's visit with Stassen, reportedly approved by Secretary of State Dulles, came as Stassen was making a behind-the-scenes effort to get U. S. disarmament policy "liberalized."

Free Milk Denied To Penny Babies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission says its sorry, but it must prevent milk dealers from giving free milk to babies.

The commission Tuesday fined two Sunbury area dealers $50 each because they had donated milk for a period to the first babies born in that area in 1958.

"Our hands are tied by law," commented Commissioner Simon K. Uhl.

The law limits a dealer to distribution of only one free quart of milk to a prospective customer in a six-month period.

Mothers Head Home

HONG KONG (AP) — Three American mothers who spent three weeks in Red China with their prisoner sons left for the United States today.

a patrolman stationed inside his school. A letter request was mailed Monday night.

Last week a 13-year-old girl at John Marshall reported she had been raped in the school basement by an unidentified boy.

The rape resulted in Goldfarb's appearance before the grand jury. He was due again Tuesday.

Last Thursday, two other incidents involving violence were reported at his school.

Patrolman Thomas Fleming, on duty outside the school, was punched by one of six youths he ordered not to loiter around the building. The school's recreation director was assaulted by a youth in the basement of the school.

The John Marshall student body is 45 per cent Negro and 10 per cent Puerto Rican.

The grand jury also heard testimony that teen-aged hoodlums forced an assistant principal to quit one Brooklyn school under fear of harm, while another youth gang took control of a Brooklyn elementary school and attacked a woman teacher.

British Youth Unavailable as 'Sputnik Boy'

MICKLEOVER, England (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Lloyd Lee has abandoned his dream of becoming the world's first Sputnik boy.

The Soviet Embassy in London may as well ignore Lloyd's letter of Jan. 21 offering to man (or boy) a Sputnik for them. He is no longer available.

Lloyd is a student at the Queen Elizabeth Grammar School, where recently a rumor went the rounds that the Soviet Union stands ready to fork out $140,000 a head for Sputnik skippers.

Lloyd, an imaginative, curly-haired little fellow, fired off a letter of acceptance to the embassy.

Two days ago Lloyd received a letter headed "Russian Embassy" and typed in red, yet. It advised him that he had been chosen as a prospective Sputnik jockey and added: "You will be required to do some training in Siberia. Our agents will be contacting you within the next few days to take you away for training."

"I was frightened out of my wits," his mother said later.

A detective assigned to the case reported after an inquiry that a notepaper on the kind used for the letter to Lloyd had been found in a certain upper class desk at Queen Elizabeth Grammar School. More conclusive still, certain upper classmen confessed writing the letter.

Mrs. Lee, greatly relieved, told a reporter: "Lloyd no longer wishes to be a spaceman."

Fourth Issue Added To GOP Battle Cry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1956 Republican campaign slogan of "Peace, progress and prosperity" has a fourth "P" (for "preparedness") in the 1958 version.

William H. Rentschler of Illinois, national campaign director of the Young Republican National Federation, suggested the new battle cry.

Rentschler said President Eisenhower got the campaign off to a good start in his speech last week in Chicago and added: "Now it's our job to get the story of Republican peace, progress, prosperity, and preparedness across to the voters. We have high hopes that our efforts will reach a crescendo in November and turn the tide in Congress."

Hess indicated that construction work would begin in the near future. He said the project would be completed in early 1959 or sooner.

It was estimated that about 100 specially-trained technicians would be assigned to the base.

Wilmington sources also report unconfirmed plans for the transfer to the Clinton County Air Force Base of units of the Strategic Air Command. These reportedly would be jet tanker planes used for mid-air refueling of America's giant jet bombers. Units of this type currently are assigned to Lockbourne Air Base which juts into northern Pickaway County.

These reports estimate that 1,200 to 2,000 persons would be required at the Clinton base.

Army Preparing For Firing of First Satellite

Final Countdown Check Believed about to Start at Florida Base

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The zero hour is approaching for the Army's attempt to launch an American earth satellite.

Officially, there is no information on when the Army's Jupiter-C will blast off into space with its 30-pound "moon." There were indications today, however, that the final countdown check of the missile was about to start.

Many experts believe the thoroughly tested Jupiter-C has a much better chance of launching a satellite than the Navy's Vanguard rocket, which has failed to perform in two efforts.

Hurricane-force winds in upper altitudes made uncertain the time of firing. The Air Force Weather Central reported high-level winds of 140 miles an hour. Winds of such velocity could topple the rocket.

Attention shifted momentarily away from the Jupiter-C Tuesday when the Air Force took the stage with a successful firing of its Thor intermediate range ballistic missile.

The spectacular shot on a sunshiny day was witnessed by thousands of persons in this area. The fiery Thor, with which the Air Force plans to put a satellite into orbit and to hit the moon, was visible for four minutes after its blastoff.

IN STANDARD language used to report a successful shot, the Air Force said the Thor "flew its prescribed course and landed in the preselected impact area." Five of the nine Thors flown from here have performed well.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, told a Senate committee recently the Thor will be used as the first stage of a two-stage vehicle being prepared to put up a recoverable satellite by spring.

By addition of a third stage, he said, unmanned reconnaissance of the moon would be possible at what he called a relatively early date.

Originally, the Thor was designed strictly as a war weapon, to deliver a nuclear warhead 1,500 miles at a speed of about 7,000 m.p.h. More than a dozen of the weapons now have been set aside for use in space research.

Wilmington To Get New Missile Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The general location for four Nike Hercules missile launchers for the defense of the Cincinnati area was announced Tuesday by the Pentagon.

The announcement said the anti-aircraft weapons will be located in the general areas of Dillsboro-Aurora, Ind.; and Oxford, Wilmington and Felicity, Ohio.

The eighth and last Nike missile center in northern Ohio was also announced. It is to be built at Painesville, the 2nd Army said.

Rep. Hess (R-Ohio) reported that the Wilmington area missile base would be made up of two components, one-half to two miles apart. One would be utilized as a control zone, the other for actual firing of the missiles.

Hess indicated that construction work would begin in the near future. He said the project would be completed in early 1959 or sooner.

It was estimated that about 100 specially-trained technicians would be assigned to the base.

Wilmington sources also report unconfirmed plans for the transfer to the Clinton County Air Force Base of units of the Strategic Air Command. These reportedly would be jet tanker planes used for mid-air refueling of America's giant jet bombers. Units of this type currently are assigned to Lockbourne Air Base which juts into northern Pickaway County.

Definite Law On Disability Of Chiefs Eyed

Ohio Statute Is Weak
On Replacement of
State's Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill's heart attack, however mild, may spur legislative action for a more definite way of determining disability of a chief executive.

Attorneys hold that the state constitution is indefinite on that score. The last Legislature received a proposal to fill that apparent void without taking final action.

Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton) proposed this amendment, subject to approval of voters at the polls:

"The Supreme Court in a proceeding brought for that purpose by the governor, the secretary of state or the attorney general in the name of the state of Ohio shall have original jurisdiction to determine that the mental or physical disability of any elective state officer prevents him performing the duties of his office . . . such jurisdiction when invoked shall continue until such officer's term expires or his disability is declared removed or non-existent by the court."

The proposal received approval of the state judiciary committee but got no further. Consideration followed President Eisenhower's first heart attack.

Members of the U.S. Supreme Court have said that such a determination on a national level would encroach on the separation of administrative, judicial and legislative powers of government.

Statehouse attorneys have expressed similar views. Ohio's Constitution contains this wording on the subject:

"In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal or other disability of the governor, the powers and duties of the office, for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted, or the disability removed, shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor."

The constitution is silent on how disability shall be determined. Heart specialists attending Governor O'Neill termed his attack mild and reported that he was making a satisfactory recovery. Aides said O'Neill's illness would not change his plans to file for reelection.

But they said his campaign would be less vigorous than the one he waged in seeking his first term as governor. They recalled that O'Neill, on the go for long periods, often got to bed at 3 a.m. and arose early that same morning to keep his next speaking engagement.

Republican leaders indicated they would stand by O'Neill and appeared cool to suggestions that a "stand-by" candidate should be selected.

Democrats expressed hope for O'Neill's recovery and indicated privately that politics was mixed with their solicitude. Their strategy calls for an attack on the record of O'Neill's administration.

Another Republican nominee would not have to campaign on the governor's record they said. "That would take the wind out of our sails," a party leader explained.

Local Men Visit Hardware Fair

Two local businessmen returned yesterday from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they attended the annual Merchandise Fair and Stockholder's Meeting of the American Hardware Supply Co., of which their firm is a member.

Romaine Wilson and John Evans of Kochheiser Hardware Co., 113 W. Main St., were two of 450 dealers who attended the affair in order to see and select new 1958 merchandise and to hear experts in fields of retailing and promotion.

The two-day convention was held January 27-28 in the Terminal Warehouses. At the final meeting Tuesday evening, the group was addressed by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Stock Mart As Whole Uneven Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and motors were in fairly good demand but the stock market as a whole was uneven in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Most changes of key stocks were narrow with a few gains running to as much as a point or so.

The opening was mixed. Then the market assumed a higher tone as steels and motors made progress. Some of the gains were trimmed as turnover slackened. A slight upside tendency remained.

The steel section apparently was helped by U. S. Steel's record earnings announced after Tuesday's close and also by the guarded optimism expressed by Robert M. Blough, "big steel's" chairman.

U. S. Steel and Republic Steel rose major fractions.

General Motors kept a good fractional edge. Ford was steady.

Cow Chemical and Caterpillar kept initial gains of about a point.

A jump in Westinghouse Electric earnings jogged the stock upward a fraction.

Du Pont, Goodyear, Boeing, American Telephone, New York Central, Texas Co., Johns-Manville and Gulf Oil were among losers, Hiram Walker Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, North American Aviation and, ADIO Corp. made small gains.

U. S. government bonds eased.

Berger Eyes X-Ray Machine

The Berger Hospital Board of Governors will open bids for an X-ray machine on March 1, it was announced today by Berger Hospital's administrator, Alva Williamson.

Williamson stated that the present X-ray machine has been obsolete for some time and is 17 to 18 years old. The new machine will be the latest development in X-ray and will feature radiography and fluoroscopy.

The purchase of the X-ray unit was to be included in the plans for the additional remodeling of Berger, but the board decided to go ahead with the improvement and modernization of the X-ray department to bring it up to date.

Will Tells Heir: 'Drink It Up!'

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP)—"If anything is left after funeral expenses, I want you to drink it up," said the will of Eli Stewart, 79.

The will, admitted to probate, left Stewart's $900 estate to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moffatt.

"I don't believe in tombstones," his will said, "and I don't want no $50 suit to be buried in. I haven't had one in 30 years."

There was no estimate of what was left, if anything, after funeral expenses were paid.

Jury Decides No Damages In Car Crash

A jury ruled in favor of William Y. Harrington yesterday in Pickaway Common Pleas Court. Harrington was defendant in a $75,600 damage suit as the result of an auto accident June 14, 1955 near Routes 151 and 22.

The jury voted 11 to 1 in favor of defendant Harrington, who was being sued by Gerald D. Wade, Lancaster.

The accident took place near the intersection of Routes 22 and 151 in Fairfield County. Wade contended that Harrington failed to yield the right of way as he drove onto Route 22 from Route 151. Wade's car struck the Harrington auto careening off into a telephone pole.

Wade stated that he spent eight days in the hospital and wore a chest cast for a month, incurring heavy expense and inconvenience.

Harrington stated that he was already on the road traveling in the same easterly direction in which Wade was going. Harrington said that Wade was driving at an excessive rate of speed and was not in control of his automobile, therefore unable to stop when he approached the Harrington car.

Definite Law On Disability Of Chiefs Eyed

Ohio Statute Is Weak
On Replacement of
State's Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill's heart attack, however mild, may spur legislative action for a more definite way of determining disability of a chief executive.

Attorneys hold that the state constitution is indefinite on that score. The last Legislature received a proposal to fill that apparent void without taking final action.

Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton) proposed this amendment, subject to approval of voters at the polls:

"The Supreme Court in a proceeding brought for that purpose by the governor, the secretary of state or the attorney general in the name of the state of Ohio shall have original jurisdiction to determine that the mental or physical disability of any elective state officer prevents his performing the duties of his office . . . such jurisdiction when invoked shall continue until such officer's term expires or his disability is declared removed or non-existent by the court."

The proposal received approval of the state judiciary committee but got no further. Consideration followed President Eisenhower's first heart attack.

Members of the U.S. Supreme Court have said that such a determination on a national level would encroach on the separation of administrative, judicial and legislative powers of government.

Statehouse attorneys have expressed similar views.

Ohio's Constitution contains this wording on the subject:

"In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal or other disability of the governor, the powers and duties of the office, for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted, or the disability removed, shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor."

The constitution is silent on how disability shall be determined.

Heart specialists attending Governor O'Neill termed his attack mild and reported that he was making a satisfactory recovery. Aides said O'Neill's illness would not change his plans to file for reelection.

But they said his campaign would be less vigorous than the one he waged in seeking his first term as governor. They recalled that O'Neill, on the go for long periods, often got to bed at 3 a.m. and arose early that same morning to keep his next speaking engagement.

Republican leaders indicated they would stand by O'Neill and appeared cool to suggestions that a "stand-by" candidate should be selected.

Democrats expressed hope for O'Neill's recovery and indicated privately that politics was mixed with their solicitude. Their strategy calls for an attack on the record of O'Neill's administration.

Another Republican nominee would not have to campaign on the governor's record they said. "That would take the wind out of our sails," a party leader explained.

Stock Mart As Whole Uneven Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and motors were in fairly good demand but the stock market as a whole was uneven in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Most changes of key stocks were narrow with a few gains running to as much as a point or so.

The opening was mixed. Then the market assumed a higher tone as steels and motors made progress. Some of the gains were trimmed as turnover slackened. A slight upside tendency remained.

The steel section apparently was helped by U. S. Steel's record earnings announced after Tuesday's close and also by the guarded optimism expressed by Robert M. Blough, "big steel's" chairman.

U. S. Steel and Republic Steel rose major fractions.

General Motors kept a good fractional edge. Ford was steady.

Cow Chemical and Caterpillar kept initial gains of about a point. A jump in Westinghouse Electric earnings jugged the stock upward a fraction.

Du Pont, Goodyear, Boeing, American Telephone, New York Central, Texas Co., Johns-Manville and Gulf Oil were among losers. Hiram Walker Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, North American Aviation and ADIO Corp. made small gains.

U. S. government bonds eased.

Inventory Recession Said In Vogue Now

Observers Expect
Supply Pipelines To
Refill after Cuts

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — Is this an inventory recession like the two previous postwar ones? And like them will it end when inventory cutting runs its course and business starts refilling the supply pipelines?

Most business leaders who express an opinion say so — both for their own lines and for the economy as a whole. Government economists count heavily on this when forecasting an upturn by midyear or early fall.

Only a few observers caution that inventory cutting could be largely a symptom of something else and that possibly other things may have to be cured before a need to refill the pipelines becomes a deciding factor.

Some even question if the remedies now being tried—easier money, intentionally, and increased defense spending, primarily for other reasons—will be enough by themselves to effect the cure.

Guessing is a risky game — if a necessary one — in business. It's easier to see how inventory cutting came about than to chart its course and turning point.

Perhaps one example, what is happening in autos, may illustrate it. Consumer buying of the 1958 models hasn't come up to Detroit's earlier hopes. So production has been cut back. So far this year the factories have turned out 25 per cent fewer cars than in the same period of 1957.

Cutbacks in auto production have led Detroit purchasing agent to go slow in ordering steel. The cutbacks and uncertainty have also led them to use up their present steel stocks and trim inventories.

In turn, this has been one reason the steel mills have cut back output. This week's tonnage production is 41 per cent lower than in the same week of 1957.

As auto makers cut output and steel mills slowed down, workers were laid off all along the line.

This rise in unemployment, added to job trimming in other industries, is beginning to show up as a drop in total personal incomes — in other words, less consumer purchasing power.

Consumer reluctance to buy durable goods is only one of the reasons behind the general inventory trimming.

A major one was the decision of businessmen themselves to cut back on their expansion program.

A chief factor in sparking the inventory cutback was the economy wave in the Defense Department which clipped spending from 10 billion dollars in the spring quarter to 9½ billion in the final months of the year.

And a world wide business slowdown cut exports by about two billion.

All together these led businessmen to switch from a policy of adding to inventory at the rate of two billion a year last summer to trimming stocks by three billion a year as 1957 ended.

Bricker Asks Better Ohio Air Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) told the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) today that better air service is needed in Columbus and Akron-Canton, Ohio.

In a letter to the CAB chairman, James R. Durfee, Bricker said he hopes that new service for these areas will be granted by the CAB in the current Great Lakes-Southeast service case.

Spokesmen for a number of Ohio cities, as well as communities in other states, are seeking added air routes in this case.

Bricker said: "I am hopeful that the board will take a close look at the need for competitive service from Columbus to the Baltimore and Washington area and to the city of Chicago."

"In addition, Columbus has very definite needs to have direct service between the capital of Ohio and points south of Cincinnati . . . of additional importance to Columbus is the need for extension from Cincinnati to Detroit via Dayton, Columbus and Toledo."

Bricker said that, as far as the Akron-Canton Airport is concerned, passengers in those cities as well as Massillon, Barberton and Alliance all need better competitive service to Florida cities and more direct service to Washington and Baltimore.

COVINGTON, Ky. — An 11-year-old youngster had been cited several times for "borrowing" unattended bicycles. Police chipped in and bought a used bike and the youngster promised he wouldn't "borrow" any more.

Mrs. Dulles Always Tries To Travel Fast and Light

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — "I usually travel light and it's no effort 'at all when I get the go signal," says Mrs. John Foster Dulles, wife of the nation's best known official globe-trotter.

The official estimate is that the secretary of state has logged more than 430,000 air miles, including speaking trips around the United States. Mrs. Dulles has accompanied him on most of them.

"The clothes I take with me," she says, "depends on the season where I happen to be going. Sometimes, though, on very long trips I find it necessary to take both winter and summer attire."

Usually, she takes a series of zipper bags containing a few gowns for luncheons, teas and formal evening functions. For the NATO conference last December in Paris, she took a wool suit, wool dress, several silk afternoon frocks, and two evening gowns—one long, one short.

While her husband is busy with conferences and meetings, she gets in a little sight-seeing, shopping and visits with wives of diplomats and friends.

In addition to her world-girdling travels, the secretary's dedicated wife puts in a great deal of mileage on the local social front, representing her busy husband at numerous diplomatic and official late-day functions. Sometimes she attends three or four of these in a day.

She's also one of the capital's busiest hostesses. She entertains wives of visiting dignitaries and diplomats and assists her husband at formal dinners and receptions for the world's most celebrated personalities.

Mrs. Dulles prefers giving smaller dinners at their French provincial home overlooking Rock Creek Park, enriched with rare antiques and art objects collected during 46 years of marriage and travels. These include items brought from the Orient by Dulles' maternal grandfather, the late John W. Foster, secretary of state under President Benjamin Harrison, and a two-foot bronze bear given his mother when her father was ambassador to Russia.

On rare occasions, the Dulleses fly to their beloved Shangri-la, Duck Island, 25 miles out in Lake Ontario. Here they fish, rest and read. Mrs. Dulles does the cooking. The secretary helps with the dishes, a chore he once admitted on TV he enjoyed.

'Ducky' Corn Awaits Decision by Judge

COLUMBUS — An Ironton city councilman, Dustin E. (Ducky) Corn, may learn today whether he will be granted a new trial or sentenced for tax evasion.

Corn was convicted recently on 13 counts of failing to file cabaret tax returns and failure to pay the tax on time.

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood heard testimony Tuesday from three physicians who said a prison term for Corn would endanger his life. Corn suffers from diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

Contributions Pour In for Ailing Boy, 2

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio — A fund to pay the cost of an examination and possible eye operation for little Roy Eugene Nickell neared the $2,000 mark today. Contributions from throughout southwestern Ohio ranged from pennies to a lump sum of $715 which was raised by a group of firemen.

Roy Eugene, who will be three years old in April, has a tumor behind his right eye. It already has impaired the vision and he suffers intense pain, particularly at night.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nickell, wanted to take him to New York to an eye specialist to determine whether the tumor is malignant and whether the boy's eyesight can be saved. Mounting medical bills and other expenses made that impossible, however. But contributions began to come in when the boy's plight was made known.

With money on hand and with other expenses guaranteed, Roy Eugene and his mother will leave here by train Saturday and the youngster will enter the Eye Institute in New York Monday for his examination and operation if that is necessary.

The American Cancer Society has guaranteed the transportation and hotel costs and the Middletown Lions and Kiwanis clubs have underwritten the costs of any operations.

The plant where the father works has guaranteed he will not be laid off as he had feared because of a slackening of work.

East Ohio Rate Hiked

COLUMBUS — Natural gas rates for some 43,000 customers in eastern Ohio will increase 1¼ cents per 1,000 cubic feet March 1, Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. has announced.

Inventory Recession Said In Vogue Now

Observers Expect
Supply Pipelines To
Refill after Cuts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Is this an inventory recession like the two previous postwar ones? And like them will it end when inventory cutting runs its course and business starts refilling the supply pipelines?

Most business leaders who express an opinion say so — both for their own lines and for the economy as a whole. Government economists count heavily on this when forecasting an upturn by midyear or early fall.

Only a few observers caution that inventory cutting could be largely a symptom of something else and that possibly other things may have to be cured before a need to refill the pipelines becomes a deciding factor.

Some even question if the remedies now being tried — easier money, intentionally, and increased defense spending, primarily for other reasons — will be enough by themselves to effect the cure.

Guessing is a risky game — if a necessary one — in business. It's easier to see how inventory cutting came about than to chart its course and turning point.

Perhaps one example, what is happening in autos, may illustrate it. Consumer buying of the 1958 models hasn't come up to Detroit's earlier hopes. So production has been cut back. So far this year the factories have turned out 25 per cent fewer cars than in the same period of 1957.

Inflation Menace Here Again

In interpreting White House utterances and prospective policies, Purchasing Week magazine foresees the business dip as shallow and not of long duration.

The turn-about in government contract letting will be particularly stimulating, it says. In the first third of this fiscal year new contract letting totaled only $2.8 billion. To meet announced goals, $12 billion in contracts will have to be signed during the remainder of the fiscal year. This is a 60 per cent increase over the rate of six months ago.

Volume contract letting, Purchasing Week points out, has an almost immediate effect on business. Those receiving the main contracts pass along sub-contracts to others, orders are placed for machine tools and payrolls expand.

In addition the Federal Reserve is easing credit, making it easier for businessmen, state and local governments to borrow money. Stimulants to check the housing let up have been put in motion, larger outlays for highways are announced. Margin requirements for stock purchases have been reduced from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

In a broader field, deficit federal spending seems in the offing. Put together, these factors spell a new inflationary thrust. Many prices are advancing now. When the new stimuli appear, there is likely to be forward buying—which is the most powerful of all boom factors.

This is not the best way to get the boom moving again, because inflation is in the long run a weakness and a menace. But the prospect is present and will undoubtedly be a powerful prod on the American economy.

Is 'Thomas' a Dying Name?

By Hal Boyle

By THOMAS OCHILTREE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (U.P.)—If your Christian name is Thomas, do you sometimes get the uneasy feeling that you are a member of a dying tribe?

Aren't you sometimes surprised, as I am, that you so seldom meet another person with the same name?

Go to any cocktail party and you will run into three or four Bobs and as many Bills, but how often do you see another Tom?

After all it's an ancient name, the name of one of the Apostles. Every language in Christendom has its form of the name.

But do people in the English-speaking world call any of their boy children Tom any more?

Writers to the editor of the London Times, willing as they always are to cast light into dark places, have taken up the question of what has become of the fine old name.

For me, at least, this is an important personal matter.

J. W. Leaver started the Times' correspondence with a letter listing the most frequent Christian names given children whose birth or adoption was announced in the newspaper during 1957.

Among the boys, John headed the list as it did in 1956. It was followed by David, James, Charles, Richard, William, Christopher and so on. But Thomas was nowhere in sight.

Ernest Barker, presumably a friendly neutral since he is not one of us, subsequently wrote that the great days for Thomas came before the middle of the 16th century.

It was one of England's leading names soon after Archbishop Thomas Becket was murdered in Canterbury Cathedral in 1170.

"The name Thomas came in with the Norman conquest, flourished after the martyrdom of a Becket and faded with the Reformation," Barker suggested.

Thomas Bodkin, a true member of this vague fraternity of Toms, showed how things have gone recently in a letter to the Times.

"The name Thomas has usually been borne by some member of my own family since the Bodkins took their place among the Twelve Tribes of Galway in the 12th century. If I am asked why I have failed to maintain this tradition I can only reply that my wife demurred to having any of our five daughters christened Thomasina, and I hoped until it was too late that they might have had a brother," he wrote.

"All five are now the mothers of sons, not one of whom is a Thomas."

Keeshond Joe Goes Free

By George Sokolsky

Joe's trial for committing a dog nuisance finally reached the calendar. Joe was accused of having performed biologically on the wrong day in the wrong place at a time when his only malfeasance was to have escaped from his leash for a few minutes. A sanitation employee garbed in the blue of a policeman, wearing a cap and badge that resembled a policeman's, gave Joe a ticket and to me, Joe is forever disgraced for he neither barked at nor bit the guy.

So the case came to trial and the Sanitation guy testified that Joe was a cocker spaniel. Now, we, in our family, do not go in for discrimination, racism or such diversions. Nevertheless we want to make it clear to all and sundry that Joe is no cocker spaniel, that he never was a cocker spaniel and has no intention of ever being a cocker spaniel. Joe is a keeshond, pronounced kayshond, and Joe's ancestors go back to William of Orange's time.

His proper name is Walsdaag, but I ask you, can you imagine running around with a name like Walsdaag? It is like calling a fine, normal, healthy juvenile Montmorency.

When we received Joe's pedigree, it was a matter of deep family concern. Nobody in our family has such a long pedigree. True, I know about some of my ancestors on my mother's side, but my father's ancestors must have been peaceful, respectable folk who left no footprints on the sands of time. We did not want Walsdaag to be too snooty and to feel that he was better than the rest of us. So we called him Joe, after the late senator from Wisconsin.

But then this Sanitation guy in a cop's uniform called Joe, who came from an heroic line of keeshonds who fought and died to keep the Spanish tyrants out of the Netherlands, a cocker spaniel, which is a sweet little lap dog that ladies carry about with them. No lady could carry Joe, not far. He is a big dog, masculine in all his propensities.

It just goes to show that class distinctions are disappearing in this world. Here is a Sanitation guy who specializes in annoying dogs, and he cannot tell the difference between one dog and another. It is like calling a Greek an Italian, or an inhabitant of Genoa, a Sicilian.

Such name-calling has led to dire consequences, because we are all proud of our ancestries, if not of our ancestors, and we fight for our racial purity as long as no one goes back far enough, say, to the time when the Celts were in Macedonia. But when that was so, who was in Ireland? It is questions like these which start wars. Therefore, let us abate, or as the senators say, yield.

So Joe went to trial and was accused of being a cocker spaniel. Obviously, this Sanitation dog-watcher had the wrong dog, in the wrong place, committing the wrong crime on the wrong day. There was nothing the Magistrate could do but declare Joe and his maid not guilty and that put an end to that.

We were prepared to go to the Supreme Court on this issue and had our cause fully prepared. Because the issue is tyranny. After all, if the police of any ilk prepare their summonses in advance, date them incorrectly, the impression is given to the citizen that these law-enforcers are required to produce evidence that they actually work for their pay. Maybe a fellow can work it this way: give out a ticket at 7:45 a. m. and another at 4 p. m. and that proves that he has been at work all day when actually he has comfortably been playing gin rummy. Or maybe a fellow makes out his summonses for Thanksgiving Day just to prove that he worked on that day, getting time and a half, when as a matter of fact, he was actually at his mother-in-law's eating turkey stuffed with macaroni and oregano. Who knows what wiles men employ to consume the taxpayers' largesse?

However, Joe is now declared not guilty and the Sanitation Squad has been proved ignorant of the difference between a cocker spaniel and a keeshond, which anybody would know who owned a tape measure and could look a dog in the eye.

Why Do People Drink?

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Everyone realizes the folly of excessive drinking. Even most confirmed alcoholics, I'm sure, are aware of the evils overindulgence presents.

There is no question that alcohol has ruined innumerable lives, is ruining them today and will continue to do so in the future. Then why do some persons drink excessively?

That, to coin a phrase, is the $64,000,000 question. And we have some pretty valuable answers.

Sometimes a person becomes an alcoholic because he has a goal—a great desire, a need, to return to the contentment of childhood innocence. He seeks to expel some painful inner tension which is bothering him.

And he finds he can do it on his own—without any help from anyone—simply by boozing up. Quite frequently we find that an alcoholic's personality development was halted at an infantile level.

An alcoholic is apt to have a hard time caring for himself as a mature person. He finds it difficult to be competent at any job and possibly even more difficult to be independent.

Generally, an alcoholic has a wish for self-punishment. Even though most habitual drinkers realize their ways ultimately will mean loss of social status, depression and feeling of guilt, they continue to follow the alcoholic path.

Their brief periods of pleasure may well end in a siege of delirium tremens. They are aware of this, but their desire to punish themselves seems to push them toward this eventuality.

Actually, psychiatrists point out, in harming themselves in such a manner, alcoholics also feel they are punishing persons they have disliked in the past.

Usually, steady drinkers will shy away from any therapeutic and psychiatric help. Yet this is precisely what is needed most. Because no matter how hard they try, they never quite achieve the effect they are seeking.

Question and Answer

T. I.: I have been suffering from bleeding gums. What is the cause and what should I do for it?

Answer: Bleeding of the gums is due to lack of stimulation of the tissues and often to the accumulation of tartar around the teeth.

The teeth should be scraped by the dentist regularly every six months for a short time. They should be brushed daily and the gums massaged.

Presence of U. S. Army troops in overseas areas have enabled them to give assistance to the local populations in many ways. For instance, in Italy a U. S. Army helicopter raised a heavy statue to the top of a church spire.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The summit conference idea was getting nowhere. Then President Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, got into the act. So did Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev. The result: the idea is still getting nowhere.

This country and Russia have agreed in a general way that a summit conference is a nice idea. They said they don't agree on how to go about it.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles take this position: because of all that could be discussed, there's no sense in a summit meeting until there are preparations on what should be discussed.

The Russians haven't flatly rejected that. But they seem to be saying: preliminaries aren't necessary; just let's get together and start talking right at the top.

Russian Premier Bulganin, in a December letter to Eisenhower, didn't go into details on how to have a summit get-together. He just said there ought to be one.

Then he wrote another letter to Eisenhower Jan. 9. This time he expressed doubt that the American and Russian foreign ministers would ever agree if they met first to decide what should be discussed at the summit.

The next day Dulles called for presummit preparations. He didn't say only the foreign ministers could make them. He said foreign ministers could, or diplomats could, or both could do it.

And he added something to give this country an out if it didn't like the way the preparations for the summit went. He said there should be "reasonable assurance" a summit meeting would "accomplish some desirable results."

Eisenhower answered Bulganin's first letter Jan. 12. Like Dulles, he called for presummit preparations. He went a little further than Dulles in his idea of preparations. He said both diplomats and foreign ministers should work them out.

He included the same kind of out as Dulles: he said through the preparations it could be seen whether the summit meeting would be worthwhile. Up to this point the waters, while not going anywhere, were fairly calm.

Then Khrushchev sounded off Jan. 26. He appeared to be telling this country that if it expected any kind of worthwhile summit conference it would have to be on Russian terms.

He said Russia would discuss—

Amburgey Hearing Set for Thursday

COLUMBUS (U.P.)—Municipal Judge John C. Duffy has set Thursday as the date for a preliminary hearing on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property filed against Albert Roy Amburgey, 28.

Originally, Amburgey was slated for a hearing Tuesday on charges of burglary and grand larceny, but police dropped those charges Monday against the former Ohio State University student.

Amburgey has been in jail here since Jan. 16. He was brought here from Cincinnati after he was shot by police while trying to flee his apartment there.

he didn't say agree on—a ban on intercontinental missiles (a suggestion by Eisenhower to Bulganin) only as part of a package that included discussion on points this country has never yet agreed to.

That same day, Jan. 26, Hagerty appeared on a TV press interview. He said the diplomats and foreign ministers should meet before a summit conference. But he said they didn't have to agree on anything except what would be discussed at the summit.

Hagerty didn't stress the out both Eisenhower and Dulles gave themselves if the preparations didn't look good—their reservation that before going to a summit conference they wanted to feel sure it would do some good. But Hagerty said later he didn't mean to go beyond anything Eisenhower had mentioned.

Khrushchev opened up again Jan. 27. He made a summit conference look easy. He said East and West could start talking about simple things and work up to the tougher ones. He didn't say anything about preparations.

A State Department spokesman knocked Khrushchev's idea on the head. This country, he said, sticks to the view there must be preparations.

The results: the Plymouth that had driven 58,000 miles—the equivalent of 6 years on the road—could hardly be told from new. careful tests proved that the 58,000-mile car delivered almost the exact same mileage as the new Plymouth. It rode with a smoothness and handled with an ease that astounded even veteran test drivers...men who had thought they'd seen everything.

Inflation Menace Here Again

In interpreting White House utterances and prospective policies, Purchasing Week magazine foresees the business dip as shallow and not of long duration.

The turn-about in government contract letting will be particularly stimulating, it says. In the first third of this fiscal year new contract letting totaled only $2.8 billion. To meet announced goals, $12 billion in contracts will have to be signed during the remainder of the fiscal year. This is a 60 per cent increase over the rate of six months ago.

Volume contract letting, Purchasing Week points out, has an almost immediate effect on business. Those receiving the main contracts pass along sub-contracts to others, orders are placed for machine tools and payrolls expand.

In addition the Federal Reserve is eas-

ing credit, making it easier for businessmen, state and local governments to borrow money. Stimulants to check the housing let up have been put in motion, larger outlays for highways are announced. Margin requirements for stock purchases have been reduced from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

In a broader field, deficit federal spending seems in the offing. Put together, these factors spell a new inflationary thrust. Many prices are advancing now. When the new stimuli appear, there is likely to be forward buying—which is the most powerful of all boom factors.

This is not the best way to get the boom moving again, because inflation is in the long run a weakness and a menace. But the prospect is present and will undoubtedly be a powerful prod on the American economy.

Is 'Thomas' a Dying Name?

By Hal Boyle

By THOMAS OCHILTREE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (U.P.)—If your Christian name is Thomas, do you sometimes get the uneasy feeling that you are a member of a dying tribe?

Aren't you sometimes surprised, as I am, that you so seldom meet another person with the same name?

Go to any cocktail party and you will run into three or four Thomases and as many Bills, but how often do you see another Tom?

After all it's an ancient name, the name of one of the Apostles. Every language in Christendom has its form of the name.

But do people in the English-speaking world call any of their boy children Tom any more?

Writers to the editor of the London Times, willing as they always are to cast light into dark places, have taken up the question of what has become of the fine old name.

For me, at least, this is an important personal matter.

J. W. Leaver started the Times' correspondence with a letter listing the most frequent Christian names given children whose birth or adoption was announced in the newspaper during 1957.

Among the boys, John headed the list as it did in 1956. It was followed by David, James, Charles, Richard, William, Christopher and so on. But Thomas was nowhere in sight.

Ernest Barker, presumably a friendly neutral since he is not one of us, subsequently wrote that the great days for Thomas came before the middle of the 16th century.

It was one of England's leading names soon after Archbishop Thomas Becket was murdered in Canterbury Cathedral in 1170.

"The name Thomas came in with the Norman conquest, flourished after the martyrdom of a Becket and faded with the Reformation," Barker suggested.

Thomas Bodkin, a true member of this vague fraternity of Thomases, showed how things have gone recently in a letter to the Times.

"The name Thomas has usually been borne by some member of my own family since the Bodkins took their place among the Twelve Tribes of Galway in the 12th century. If I am asked why I have failed to maintain this tradition I can only reply that my wife demurred to having any of our five daughters christened Thomasina, and I hoped until it was too late that they might have had a brother," he wrote.

"All five are now the mothers of sons, not one of whom is a Thomas."

Keeshond Joe Goes Free

By George Sokolsky

Joe's trial for committing a dog nuisance finally reached the calendar. Joe was accused of having performed biologically on the wrong day in the wrong place at a time when his only malfeasance was to have escaped from his leash for a few minutes. A Sanitation employee garbed in the blue of a policeman, wearing a cap and badge that resembled a policeman's, gave Joe a ticket and to me, Joe is forever disgraced for he neither barked at nor bit the guy.

So the case came to trial and the Sanitation guy testified that Joe was a cocker spaniel. Now, we, in our family, do not go in for discrimination, racism or such diversions. Nevertheless we want to make it clear to all and sundry that Joe is no cocker spaniel, that he never was a cocker spaniel and has no intention of ever being a cocker spaniel. Joe is a keeshond, pronounced kayshond, and Joe's ancestors go back to William of Orange's time.

His proper name is Walsdaag, but I ask you, can you imagine running around with a name like Walsdaag? It is like calling a fine, normal, healthy juvenile Montmorency.

When we received Joe's pedigree, it was a matter of deep family concern. Nobody in our family has such a long pedigree. True, I know about some of my ancestors on my mother's side, but my father's ancestors must have been peaceful, respectable folk who left no footprints on the sands of time. We did not want Walsdaag to be too snooty and to feel that he was better than the rest of us. So we called him Joe, after the late senator from Wisconsin.

But then this Sanitation guy in a cop's uniform called Joe, who came from an heroic line of keeshonds who fought and died to keep the Spanish tyrants out of the Netherlands, a cocker spaniel, which is a sweet little lap dog that ladies carry about with them. No lady could carry Joe, not far. He is a big dog, masculine in all his propensities. It just goes to show that class distinctions are disappearing in this world. Here is a Sanitation guy who specializes in sanitizing dogs, and he cannot tell the difference between one dog and another. It is like calling a Greek an Italian, or an inhabitant of Genoa, a Sicilian.

Such name-calling has led to dire consequences, because we are all proud of our ancestries, if not of our ancestors, and we fight for our racial purity as long as no one goes back far enough, say, to the time when the Celts were in Macedonia. But when that was so, who was in Ireland? It is questions like these which start wars. Therefore, let us abate, or as the senators say, yield.

So Joe went to trial and was accused of being a cocker spaniel. Obviously, this Sanitation dog-watcher had the wrong dog, in the wrong place, committing the wrong crime on the wrong day. There was nothing the Magistrate could do but declare Joe and his maid not guilty and that put an end to that.

We were prepared to go to the Supreme Court on this issue and had our cause fully prepared. Because the issue is tyranny. After all, if the police of any ilk prepare their summonses in advance, date them incorrectly, the impression is given to the citizen that these law-enforcers are required to produce evidence that they actually work for their pay. Maybe a fellow can work it this way: give out a ticket at 7:45 a. m. and another at 4 p. m. and that proves that he has been at work all day when actually he has comfortably been playing gin rummy. Or maybe a fellow makes out his summonses for Thanksgiving Day just to prove that he worked on that day, getting time and a half, when as a matter of fact, he was actually at his mother-in-law's eating turkey stuffed with macaroni and oregano. Who knows what wiles men employ to consume the taxpayers' largesse?

However, Joe is now declared not guilty and the Sanitation Squad has been proved ignorant of the difference between a cocker spaniel and a keeshond, which anybody would know who owned a tape measure and could look a dog in the eye.

Why Do People Drink?

Revenue Men To Provide Help for You at No Cost

Editor's Note: This is the final article in a series about your federal income tax. It describes some common mistakes and tells how to avoid them. If you have saved all of the other seven articles, you now are ready to begin work on your own return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Assuming you are an average taxpayer with no particular income tax problems, you should now be able to sit down, fill out the proper form, and square your account with Uncle Sam.

One point can hardly be over-emphasized: if you have any doubts or questions, don't leave it to hunches or guesswork. Contact your nearest Internal Revenue Service office, by telephone, preferably, or in person or by mail, and tell them your troubles. It won't cost you a thing, and it might save you considerable time, trouble and money.

If you underpay your income tax for any reason, you must pay 6 per cent interest on any additional tax due. More than that, you might get slapped with a penalty that could make things really rough.

The revenue service has figures to show that about one out of every four tax returns filed by individuals contains a major error. About nine out of 10 of these errors are in the taxpayers' favor, and only one out of 10 in the favor of Uncle.

Last year the government found errors in arithmetic alone on over 1,300,000 returns. These called for refunds of 33 million dollars, and bills for additional taxes of over 76 million dollars.

GIVE YOURSELF plenty of time to make out your return. Don't put it off until the last minute, when you are more apt to make a mistake. And, once you've finished it, put it aside for a few days. Then pick it up again and make a line-by-line check. Here are some things you'll want to watch:

Be sure your name and address on the top lines are printed carefully so they can be read easily. The revenue service is holding thousands of refund checks for people whose names and addresses they haven't been able to decipher.

Be sure you sign your return in

Family Trade

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP)—For 30 Christmases, Mrs. Barney Sweetney of Mason City and her sister, Mrs. Ray Nichols of Clear Lake, have taken turns tying each other's gift with the same gold-edged red ribbon. Mrs. Nichols first used the ribbon in 1928, and last Christmas she got it back for the 15th time.

the proper place. And, if it's a joint return, be sure your wife (or husband) signs it too. The return isn't complete until it has been properly signed.

Be sure you have attached a copy of your form W2 to your return (and that you keep one copy for your own records). If you worked for more than one employer during the year, you have to attach a W2 form from each one.

Don't send along your receipts, vouchers and bills, etc., but be sure you keep them handy where you can get at them easily if the tax collector asks questions.

Check and double-check it again.

Kin in Russia Cut Off in Will

AKRON (AP)—The will of a man who cut off his daughter in Russia without any money has been upheld by Common Pleas Judge Stephen Colopy.

George Sokoloff of Youngstown, representing the daughter, contested the will of Peter Eremew, 75, who died three years ago. He left the entire estate of $89,786 to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Zupan, Akron couple with whom he had lived for more than 20 years.

Sokoloff testified he had made a trip to Russia in search of the daughter but couldn't find her. He said, however, he had received letters from Anastasia Petrovna Zaytzeva, claiming she was Eremew's daughter.

If you have any school-age children, you might have them check it for you, too.

CHECK BACK to the fourth article of this series and make sure you are claiming all the exemptions to which you're entitled. Remember those extra exemptions if you are over 65, and for blindness. And be sure you have checked the proper blocks on the tax form to claim these exemptions.

Make sure you are taking credit for any allowable sick pay exclusion, as outlined in the fifth article.

Check your figures again to make certain you are claiming the right deductions—either the 10 per cent standard deduction or the itemized deductions.

If you and your wife (or husband) are filing separate returns, take another look at the figures to be sure you wouldn't be better off filing a joint return. Most taxpayers are.

FOLLOWING ARE some of the mistakes taxpayers make that bring them bills for more taxes from Uncle Sam:

Claiming exemptions for persons who don't fit all the requirements of a dependent. Remember the big test: you must furnish more than half the support.

Failure to report all income. This is particularly true for people whose work brings them tips and gratuities. If you got a bonus from the boss, that's taxable.

Also be sure you report income from dividends, interest on your savings account, profits from the sale of property, etc.

Claiming personal deductions for such things as federal excise taxes, gifts to relatives and friends, property you misplace or lose, cost of travel to and from work, school expenses, etc.

Claiming excessive amounts for contributions to churches and charitable organizations, medical and dental expenses and the like. If these contributions and expenses are high, be sure you have the facts and figures to back up your claim.

And once more: If you have any questions, check with the Internal Revenue Service. Remember, the tax collectors are real, live human beings who have to pay taxes themselves. They'll give you every break in the book—for free.

Paddling Case Still Facing Cincy Teacher

CINCINNATI (AP)—A charge of assault and battery against a trim 22-year-old school teacher in the paddling of a pupil was dismissed in municipal court Tuesday but a similar charge was filed against her a few minutes later.

Prosecutor Robert Paul asked for the dismissal of the charge against Miss Gayle A. Graner when the prosecuting witness, Mrs. Louamie McGeorge, mother of Roscoe McGeorge, 11, failed to show up for a hearing.

Paul remarked "I have definite ideas on discipline in schools and I don't care to prosecute the charge."

Mrs. McGeorge showed up a short time later, explaining she had been delayed in getting a taxi-cab.

Her attorney, Calvin W. Prem, then obtained the new warrant against Miss Graner. Paul asked Judge Raymond E. Shannon to hear the case Saturday when he would not be serving as prosecutor in the court.

Miss Graner told newsmen the incident occurred when the McGeorge boy and another lad were playing with cards instead of studying. She said the other boy obeyed her instructions to study

Woman Freed On Bond in Swindle Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The 14th person charged in connection with an alleged $200,000 insurance claim swindle here is Miss Lucille Diorio, 26, of Youngstown.

She was arrested Tuesday on a charge of aiding and abetting embezzlement and pleaded innocent at her arraignment before Mahoning County Judge E. G. Diehm. She was released under $2,000 bond.

Miss Diorio is accused of assisting councilman John J. Robin Jr., described by authorities as the mastermind of the swindle, in filing a claim on an automobile accident that never occurred. A payment of $1,100 was made on the claim by the American Associated Insurance Co., police said. Robin, 29, an adjuster for the

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

- "Normal" Development
- Ear Surgery

Q. How can you be sure that a baby is developing in a normal manner?

A. Judging the developmental progress of a child is a matter for a physician. The trick is in knowing what is meant by "normal." The word is often used but hard to pin down. Many people tend to consider "normal" as suggesting "desirable." Parents can spare themselves much worry and concern by taking children to a doctor for regular checkups. You can help by keeping a simple record of the child's early progress. If trouble develops in later years it may be very necessary to know such seemingly unimportant things as the age at which the youngster sat alone, reached for objects, or started "building" houses with blocks. "Baby books" usually give an outline of what to look for and provide space for making special notations as the child grows and develops.

Q. Can hearing be restored by operating on the ear?

A. Some types of deafness can be helped by surgery — others can not. Physicians trained in diseases of the ear can determine before-hand whether an operation is advisable. It is often possible to improve hearing by cutting a little window or fenestra in the inner ear. The operation is one of the most delicate procedures accomplished by ear surgeons. One of the chief drawbacks to fenestration (fen-is-tra-shun) operations has been certain after-effects that prevented good hearing improvement in some patients. A leading expert in this field of work has recently licked this problem. As he says, the final stumbling block to completely successful fenestration surgery has finally been removed. Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

It's easy to forget a virus if your children have been vaccinated against it.

It isn't so easy to forget a face.

Americans can't forget the "face of polio"—the face of tens of thousands of children and young people who have survived paralytic polio but still suffer its disabilities. Those faces, like the little one in this picture, look to you for help.

Why? Because you can make possible the surgery, rehabilitation, retraining that can come only through contributions to the MARCH OF DIMES.

Revenue Men To Provide Help for You at No Cost

Editor's Note: This is the final article in a series about your federal income tax. It describes some common mistakes and tells how to avoid them. If you have saved all of the other seven articles, you now are ready to begin work on your own return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP News Features Writer

Assuming you are an average taxpayer with no particular income tax problems, you should now be able to sit down, fill out the proper form, and square your account with Uncle Sam.

One point can hardly be over-emphasized: If you have any doubts or questions, don't leave it to hunches or guesswork. Contact your nearest Internal Revenue Service office, by telephone, preferably, or in person or by mail, and tell them your troubles. It won't cost you a thing, and it might save you considerable time, trouble and money.

If you underpay your income tax for any reason, you must pay 6 per cent interest on any additional tax due. More than that, you might get slapped with a penalty that could make things really rough.

The revenue service has figures to show that about one out of every four tax returns filed by individuals contains a major error. About nine out of 10 of these errors are in the taxpayers' favor, and only one out of 10 in the favor of Uncle.

Last year the government found errors in arithmetic alone on over 1,300,000 returns. These called for refunds of 33 million dollars, and bills for additional taxes of over 76 million dollars.

GIVE YOURSELF plenty of time to make out your return. Don't put it off until the last minute, when you are more apt to make a mistake. And, once you've finished it, put it aside for a few days. Then pick it up again and make a line-by-line check. Here are some things you'll want to watch:

Be sure your name and address on the top lines are printed carefully so they can be read easily. The revenue service is holding thousands of refund checks for people whose names and addresses they haven't been able to decipher.

Be sure you sign your return in

Family Trade

MASON CITY, Iowa (P)—For 30 Christmases, Mrs. Barney Sweetney of Mason City and her sister, Mrs. Ray Nichols of Clear Lake, have taken turns tying each other's gift with the same gold-edged red ribbon. Mrs. Nichols first used the ribbon in 1928, and last Christmas she got it back for the 15th time.

the proper place. And, if it's a joint return, be sure your wife (or husband) signs it too. The return isn't complete until it has been properly signed.

Be sure you have attached a copy of your form W2 to your return (and that you keep one copy for your own records). If you worked for more than one employer during the year, you have to attach a W2 form from each one.

Don't send along your receipts, vouchers and bills, etc., but be sure you keep them handy where you can get at them easily if the tax collector asks questions.

Check and double-check it again.

Kin in Russia Cut Off in Will

AKRON (P)—The will of a man who cut off his daughter in Russia without any money has been upheld by Common Pleas Judge Stephen Colopy.

George Sokoloff of Youngstown, representing the daughter, contested the will of Peter Eremew, 75, who died three years ago. He left the entire estate of $89,786 to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Zupan, Akron couple with whom he had lived for more than 20 years.

Sokoloff testified he had made a trip to Russia in search of the daughter but couldn't find her. He said, however, he had received letters from Anastasia Petrovna Zaytzeva, claiming she was Eremew's daughter.

If you have any school-age children, you might have them check it for you, too.

CHECK BACK to the fourth article of this series and make sure you are claiming all the exemptions to which you're entitled. Remember those extra exemptions if you are over 65, and for blindness. And be sure you have checked the proper blocks on the tax form to claim these exemptions.

Make sure you are taking credit for any allowable sick pay exclusion, as outlined in the fifth article.

Check your figures again to make certain you are claiming the right deductions—either the 10 per cent standard deduction or the itemized deductions.

If you and your wife (or husband) are filing separate returns, take another look at the figures to be sure you wouldn't be better off filing a joint return. Most taxpayers are.

FOLLOWING ARE some of the mistakes taxpayers make that bring them bills for more taxes from Uncle Sam:

Claiming exemptions for persons who don't fit all the requirements of a dependent. Remember the big test: you must furnish more than half the support.

Failure to report all income. This is particularly true for people whose work brings them tips and gratuities. If you got a bonus from the boss, that's taxable.

Also be sure you report income from dividends, interest on your savings account, profits from the sale of property, etc.

Claiming personal deductions for such things as federal excise taxes, gifts to relatives and friends, property you misplace or lose, cost of travel to and from work, school expenses, etc.

Claiming excessive amounts for contributions to churches and charitable organizations, medical and dental expenses and the like. If these contributions and expenses are high, be sure you have the facts and figures to back up your claim.

And once more: If you have any questions, check with the Internal Revenue Service. Remember, the tax collectors are real, live human beings who have to pay taxes themselves. They'll give you every break in the book—for free.

Trees, Treaties, Towers Subject for Monday Club

The Monday Club met in the trustees' room at the Memorial Hall for its regular business meeting Monday.

Mrs. Barton Deming presided over the business meeting. The delegates to the Pickaway County Association of Womens Clubs gave reports. Mrs. R. R. Bales presented the findings of the "Memorial Marker" committee. The January House Committee was thanked for its attractive winter floral arrangements.

Miss Alice Ada May, chairman for the evening, presented the program. Mrs. Forest Croman presented the topic "Trees, Treaties and Towers" for discussion. Referring first to Biblical times, she spoke of the ambitious efforts of people to build a tower that would reach to Heaven. They were forced to stop when their universal language was taken from them by Divine Power and they could no longer commune with each other. The Tower of Babel was never completed and the workers scattered over far places of the world.

Many centuries have passed since then, but Mrs. Croman passed on the thought that, although still speaking many tongues, citizens of the world came together to build a modern tower, not to reach Heaven, but to use as a workshop for peace on earth. This tower is the home of the United Nations.

Speaking of trees and treaties, she called attention to the Logan Elm, Pickaway Plains, where the historical drama of Chief Logan was enacted. Known as a friend to white men, he there recounted the wrongs suffered at their hands. He listed effectively the violations of the treaty of Ft. Stanwix, 1768. In presenting his many grievances,

After luncheon, "money" was given special attention. A number of statistics and illustrations were presented and discussed to show methods of planning and working to balance money with wants and needs so as to have a reasonable reserve.

Those present were Mrs. Harold Gulick, Mrs. Francis Hoover, Mrs. Howard McGee, Mrs. Fred Neff, Mrs. William Rush, Mrs. Roy Starkey, Mrs. Richard Snyder and son, Mrs. Earl Steck, Mrs. Fred Thraill, Mrs. Walter Writsel and son, Mrs. Russell Younkin and daughters, Mrs. Leora Sayre and Mrs. William Lee Green and daughter.

AAUW Plans Programs; Sets Guest Night for March Meet

Mrs. Malcolm Lawrence, 202 N. Scioto St., was hostess to the American Association of University Women Monday evening. Approximately 34 members and guests were present.

Guest night will be observed in March along with a planned carry-in dinner. The April meeting will be a panel discussion. In May the group will have a dramatization of the AAUW history. The May meeting will be the last session until the group meets again in September.

Mrs. Glen McCoy presided over the program on parliamentary procedure. An explanation and skit was given. Members of the skit were Mrs. William Speakman, Mrs. Richard Boyd, Mrs. Robert Doherty and Mrs. Hewitt Har-mount. Refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. Jack Gray.

Miss Sally Eshelman will be hostess when the group meets at 8 p. m. February 24.

Forum Group Hears Child Welfare Executive's Talk

Mrs. Zelma Maynard, executive secretary County Child Welfare Board, gave an informative talk on the methods juveniles are placed when they become permanent or temporary wards of the Probate Court, when Circleville Forum held its regular luncheon meeting at the Pickaway Country Club yesterday.

Other than the county orphanage these children are placed in private homes. The homes after application to the Child Welfare

Board, are carefully investigated before they are licensed. The county has three classifications for homes: foster homes, to whom the county pays $1 per day; wage homes, where the child helps with the work and receives room, board, and wages; and free homes, where a child receives free room, board and an allowance.

Pickaway County, like most counties in Ohio, has no facilities for physically handicapped or mentally retarded children. The state is trying to set up a program for these children, but costs usually are more than small counties can afford without service club backing.

After the talk, President Mrs. Horace Luton, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Sterling Poling read the constitution and it was unanimously accepted. Mrs. Luton appointed the following committees: Membership, Mrs. Norman Kuter and Mrs. Dave McDonald; historian, Mrs. Lewis Young; project, Mrs. Charles Sisco and Mrs. Ray Friend; hospitality, Mrs. Louis Weust and parliamentarian, Mrs. Richard Funk.

A report was given on the pin-up lamps and candy sent to the County Aged Home for Christmas. Mrs. John Montgomery attended the meeting as a guest.

February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hal Dickinson with Mrs. Richard Funk and Mrs. Robert Anderson as hostesses.

THERE'S SHEER WITCHERY in Cell Chapman's translucent silhouette, which drapes a sheer fabric to stand away from the body over a slim, fitted underbody. Trees, Treaties, Towers Subject for Monday Club

The Monday Club met in the trustees' room at the Memorial Hall for its regular business meeting Monday.

Mrs. Barton Deming presided over the business meeting. The delegates to the Pickaway County Association of Womens Clubs gave reports. Mrs. R. R. Bales presented the findings of the "Memorial Marker" committee. The January House Committee was thanked for its attractive winter floral arrangements.

Miss Alice Ada May, chairman for the evening, presented the program. Mrs. Forest Croman presented the topic "Trees, Treaties and Towers" for discussion. Referring first to Biblical times, she spoke of the ambitious efforts of people to build a tower that would reach to Heaven. They were forced to stop when their universal language was taken from them by Divine Power and they could no longer commune with each other. The Tower of Babel was never completed and the workers scattered over far places of the world.

Many centuries have passed since then, but Mrs. Croman passed on the thought that, although still speaking many tongues, citizens of the world came together to build a modern tower, not to reach Heaven, but to use as a workshop for peace on earth. This tower is the home of the United Nations.

Speaking of trees and treaties, she called attention to the Logan Elm, Pickaway Plains, where the historical drama of Chief Logan was enacted. Known as a friend to white men, he there recounted the wrongs suffered at their hands. He listed effectively the violations of the treaty of Ft. Stanwix, 1768. In presenting his many grievances,

Those present were Mrs. Harold Gulick, Mrs. Francis Hoover, Mrs. Howard McGee, Mrs. Fred Neff, Mrs. William Rush, Mrs. Roy Starkey, Mrs. Richard Snyder and son, Mrs. Earl Steck, Mrs. Fred Thraill, Mrs. Walter Writsel and son, Mrs. Russell Younk and daughters, Mrs. Leora Sayre and Mrs. William Lee Green and daughter.

Forum Group Hears Child Welfare Executive's Talk

Mrs. Zelma Maynard, executive secretary County Child Welfare Board, gave an informative talk on the methods juveniles are placed when they become permanent or temporary wards of the Probate Court, when in Circleville Forum held its regular luncheon meeting at the Pickaway Country Club yesterday.

Other than the county orphanage these children are placed in private homes. The homes after application to the Child Welfare

Board, are carefully investigated before they are licensed. The county has three classifications for homes; foster homes, to whom the county pays $1 per day; wage homes, where the child helps with the work and receives room, board, and wages; and free homes, where a child receives free room, board and an allowance.

Pickaway County, like most counties in Ohio, has no facilities for physically handicapped or mentally retarded children. The state is trying to set up a program for these children, but costs usually are more than small counties can afford without service club backing.

After the talk, President Mrs. Horace Luton, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Sterling Poling read the constitution and it was unanimously accepted. Mrs. Luton appointed the following committees: Membership, Mrs. Norman Kuller and Mrs. Dave McDonald; historical, Mrs. Lewis Young; project, Mrs. Charles Sisco and Mrs. Ray Friend; hospitality, Mrs. Louis West and parliamentarian, Mrs. Richard Funk.

A report was given on the pin-up lamps and candy sent to the County Aged Home for Christmas.

Mrs. John Montgomery attended the meeting as a guest.

February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hal Dickinson with Mrs. Richard Funk and Mrs. Robert Anderson as hostesses.

New Car Price Cutting Seen

Manufacturers' Hike Virtually Nullified

DETROIT — Price discounting by new car retailers is widespread again.

As far as the new car buyer is concerned the price competition among the retailers virtually nullified the list price increases most car makers announced with their 1958 model lines.

But even dealers' price cuts have not greatly stimulated new car sales. Most surveys indicated price discounting began before the new model year was a month old.

The car makers had their new models on the market early in November. Some experts said a thorough cleanup of outgoing models would enable dealers to ask and get closer to the manufacturers' announced list prices for the new model.

But the cleanup drive on 1957 model cars left something to be desired. At the changeover point it left close to 100,000 outgoing models unsold. To some extent these unsold '57s competed with the incoming '58s for buyer preference.

Retailers in most makes had to cut prices on the 1958 models to attract buyers. A Labor Department report recently said new car prices declined 2.3 per cent in December as dealers began granting larger discounts.

Appearing again in the drive for new car buyers are the "would you take" offers tucked into windshield wipers of parked cars. Usually they named a figure far above the resale value of the older car.

Of course, the salesman's offer is not always approved by the car dealer or his sales manager. But the fact car salesmen are out looking for customers suggests the merchandising division is stepping up its efforts to get new car sales rolling in high gear again.

Retail sales still are running below factory output, but curtailed production schedules promise to halt the upsurge in dealer inventories.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I married late, two years ago, and have been supporting my husband since then. Lacking a trade that would give him a livelihood, he has been taking on-the-job training for paltry wages until he can command a better income.

I have worked too long and hate my days in the office; all I want is to stay home and be a housewife and mother. I don't think I'd mind job-holding so much, if there were other interests in my life. But since marriage I've experienced only boredom and depression.

All our evenings are spent at home, watching TV in our one-room apartment, until I could scream. We have no money for recreation, don't own a car, have no relatives here and few friends (as we come from other towns); and, worst of all, I have no sex desire for my husband.

When I was single I could take an occasional vacation or buy a dress to brighten my spirits, but this is impossible now. But my husband is hard working, sincere, honest, sober and very reliable—which makes me want to go on with my marriage. Some day he will be able to support me, I know. But how can I wait patiently, feeling as I do now?

C. Y.
DEAR C.Y.: In your letter, here condensed, you say that you feel you may crack up, along with your marriage, if you don't get advice and help.

I recognize the urgency of your distress; and the best advice I can give you, in the circumstances, is to talk things over, face to face, with an expert counsellor in family relations—whom you may find at your nearest family service agency. See your telephone directory for the address; and make an appointment for an interview.

The depressing reality of your marriage to Fred is simply a continuation of the dreary existence you'd known before. I gather. Nothing has changed, except that now you feel that "This is it," whereas before, you at least had a hopeful sense of looking for, and expecting something better, a new and happier chapter of living, around any corner.

Your frustration since being married, which feels the more unbearable because it seems so final, illustrates a truism that psychologists argue, namely: that we don't escape ourselves in marrying. And it is ourselves that we experience, in every situation.

Marriage, per se, doesn't change the texture of one's personality and character; nor does it improve his capacity for being happy and knowing joy. On the contrary, in marriage as in single life, our habitual mold (of thought and feeling) continues to determine most of what happens to us.

That's why you need firsthand expert help—to get perspective on your experience, both before you invested in Fred, and since. I hope that the expert will help you to stand aside from the situation and mentally above it, figuratively—so that you may see what you might do, to actually rise out of it; and change your circumstances or transform your life.

Remember, the journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step; and Rome wasn't built in a day. If you really want to settle in a smaller town, and if such a move would profit you, it can be done; but only if you begin to visualize and plan, in a sturdy confident upbeat way.

600 Cincy Aluminum Workers on Strike

CINCINNATI — Approximately 600 employees of the Aluminum Industries, Inc., stayed away from their jobs again Tuesday in a dispute over seniority and the hiring of janitors from an outside firm.

The work stoppage started Friday when approximately 300 employees quit. The remainder failed to show up for work Monday.

Ohio Pastors Get Appraisal On Unification of Churches

COLUMBUS — Turning their attention to the matter of unifying the many branches of the Protestant church, Ohio pastors heard an appraisal of the situation from a Detroit minister and encouragement from a Nashville educator Tuesday.

Dr. Jesse Jai McNeill told the 39th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention that unity seeks man and that it belongs to God.

Dr. McNeill, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church of Detroit, Mich., listed "factors which influence our readiness for the unity that seeks us":

"We are simply human creatures... convinced of the validity of certain beliefs and practices."

"The most critically thinking leaders in our church do not possess enough prophetic and spiritual insight sometimes to know when the hardest effort we are putting forth to achieve Christian unity is divinely motivated or is just the result of the mechanical and automatic character of the life of which we are a part."

Dr. J. Robert Nelson, dean of the Divinity School of Vanderbilt

Dual Lights Studied

COLUMBUS — New automobiles with dual headlights have caused creation of a five-man committee to study and recommend changes in Ohio laws and regulations. Present statutes do not cover dual lights.

University, Nashville, Tenn., said on the whole the movement toward church unity in America is making some headway.

"There is hardly a denominational family outside Roman Catholicism and Eastern Orthodoxy which is not now pursuing one plan of intercommunion or church union in some parts of the world," he said.

In other action Tuesday, a declaration of social aims was presented to the 1,000 delegates. It was drawn up last fall by the Ohio Council of Churches and formal action is expected Thursday.

The declaration ranges over a wide area, calling for such things as outlawing nuclear bomb tests, ending racial segregation in a community, strengthening measures to combat juvenile delinquency, and a dozen other pronouncements on public affairs.

Ike Uses 'Copter for Airport Trip

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower flew by helicopter from the White House to National Airport today for his trip to Kansas City to attend his brother's funeral. It was Eisenhower's first use of the new service for such a short hop.

The 3½-minute flight enabled Eisenhower to jump over the heavy early morning traffic between the executive mansion and the airport on the Virginia side of the Potomac River.

The takeoff from the White

House grounds was at 7:45 a.m. Secret Service agents flew ahead in an Army helicopter. Eisenhower was aboard a larger Marine Corps craft.

At the airport, Eisenhower transferred to the four-engine presidential plane, Columbine III and took off for Kansas City at 7:56 a.m.

He was due at Kansas City about 11:30 a.m. (CST) for the early afternoon funeral of his elder brother, Arthur. The President planned to return to Washington following the services.

Eisenhower first used the specially assigned whirly bird last year on an experimental basis in the practice civil defense alert in which top executives were evacuated from Washington.

His helicopter was flown today by Maj. V. D. Olson from the Marine Corps base at Quantico, Va. In the Eisenhower party were press secretary James C. Hagerty and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, presidential physician.

Daytonian, 39, Faces Accusation in Slaying

DAYTON — Police have filed a second-degree murder charge against Jack Walden Kerstetter, 39, in the fatal shooting early Saturday of an insurance agent.

The victim was Faustin R. Breitenstein, 46, of Dayton. Kerstetter, formerly of Sandusky, told police he struck Breitenstein over the head with a .45 caliber automatic during a fight and the gun discharged accidentally.

Miss Grace McClure, 32, who was being held as a material witness in the shooting, was released.

Federal Ban Asked On Pay Television

WASHINGTON — Rep. Springer (R-Ill.) has asked Congress to prohibit pay television.

A bill introduced Monday by Springer would bar "charging a fee to view television in private homes."

The Communications Commission has asked advocates of subscription television to submit proposals for tests of the plan.

As far as the new car buyer is concerned the price competition among the retailers virtually nullified the list price increases most car makers announced with their 1958 model lines.

But even dealers' price cuts have not greatly stimulated new car sales. Most surveys indicated price discounting began before the new model year was a month old.

The car makers had their new models on the market early in November. Some experts said a thorough cleanup of outgoing models would enable dealers to ask and get closer to the manufacturers' announced list prices for the new models.

But the cleanup drive on 1957 model cars left something to be desired. At the changeover point it left close to 100,000 outgoing models unsold. To some extent these unsold '57s competed with the incoming '58s for buyer preference.

Retailers in most makes had to cut prices on the 1958 models to attract buyers. A Labor Department report recently said new car prices declined 2.3 per cent in December as dealers began granting larger discounts.

Appearing again in the drive for new car buyers are the "would you take" offers tucked into windshield wipers of parked cars. Usually they named a figure far above the resale value of the older car.

Of course, the salesman's offer is not always approved by the dealer or his sales manager. But the fact car salesmen are out looking for customers suggests the merchandising division is stepping up its efforts to get new car sales rolling in high gear again.

Retail sales still are running below factory output, but curtailed production schedules promise to halt the upsurge in dealer inventories.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I married late, two years ago, and have been supporting my husband since then. Lacking a trade that would give him a livelihood, he has been taking on-the-job training for paltry wages until he can command a better income.

I have worked too long and hate my days in the office; all I want is to stay home and be a housewife and mother. I don't think I'd mind job-holding so much, if there were other interests in my life. But since marriage I've experienced only boredom and depression.

All our evenings are spent at home, watching TV in our one-room apartment, until I could scream. We have no money for recreation, don't own a car, have no relatives here and few friends (as we come from other towns); and, worst of all, I have no sex desire for my husband.

When I was single I could take an occasional vacation or buy a dress to brighten my spirits, but this is impossible now. But my husband is hard working, sincere, honest, sober and very reliable—which makes me want to go on with my marriage. Some day he will be able to support me, I know. But how can I wait patiently, feeling as I do now?

C. Y.

DEAR C.Y.: In your letter, here condensed, you say that you feel you may crack up, along with your marriage, if you don't get advice and help.

I recognize the urgency of your distress; and the best advice I can give you, in the circumstances, is to talk things over, face to face, with an expert counselor in family relations—whom you may find at your nearest family service agency. See your telephone directory for the address; and make an appointment for an interview.

The depressing reality of your marriage to Fred is simply a continuation of the dreary existence you'd known before, I gather. Nothing has changed, except that now you feel that "This is it," whereas before, you at least had a hopeful sense of looking for, and expecting something better, a new and happier chapter of living, around any corner.

Your frustration since being married, which feels the more unbearable because it seems so final, illustrates a truism that psychologists argue, namely: that we don't escape ourselves in marrying. And it is ourselves that we experience, in every situation.

Marriage, per se, doesn't change the texture of one's personality and character; nor does it improve his capacity for being happy and knowing joy. On the contrary, in marriage as in single life, our habitual mold (of thought and feeling) continues to determine most of what happens to us.

That's why you need firsthand expert help—to get perspective on your experience, both before you invested in Fred, and since. I hope that the expert will help you to stand aside from the situation and mentally above it, figuratively—so that you may see what you might do, to actually rise out of it; and change your circumstances or transform your life.

Remember, the journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step; and Rome wasn't built in a day. If you really want to settle in a smaller town, and if such a move would profit you, it can be done; but only if you begin to visualize and plan, in a sturdy confident upbeat way.

M. H.

Ohio Pastors Get Appraisal On Unification of Churches

COLUMBUS — Turning their attention to the matter of unifying the many branches of the Protestant church, Ohio pastors heard an appraisal of the situation from a Detroit minister and encouragement from a Nashville educator Tuesday.

Dr. Jesse J. McNeill told the 39th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention that unity seeks man and that it belongs to God.

Dr. McNeill, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church of Detroit, Mich., listed "factors which influence our readiness for the unity that seeks us":

"We are simply human creatures . . . convinced of the validity of certain beliefs and practices. . . ."

"The most critically thinking leaders in our church do not possess enough prophetic and spiritual insight sometimes to know when the hardest effort we are putting forth to achieve Christian unity is divinely motivated or is just the result of the mechanical and automatic character of the life of which we are a part."

Dr. J. Robert Nelson, dean of the Divinity School of Vanderbilt

Dual Lights Studied

COLUMBUS — New automobiles with dual headlights have caused creation of a five-man committee to study and recommend changes in Ohio laws and regulations. Present statutes do not cover dual lights.

Ike Uses 'Copter for Airport Trip

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower flew by helicopter from the White House to National Airport today for his trip to Kansas City to attend his brother's funeral. It was Eisenhower's first use of the new service for such a short hop.

The 3½-minute flight enabled Eisenhower to jump over the heavy early morning traffic between the executive mansion and the airport on the Virginia side of the Potomac River.

The takeoff from the White

House grounds was at 7:45 a.m. Secret Service agents flew ahead in an Army helicopter. Eisenhower was aboard a larger Marine Corps craft.

At the airport, Eisenhower transferred to the four-engine presidential plane, Columbine III and took off for Kansas City at 7:56 a.m.

He was due at Kansas City about 11:30 a.m. (CST) for the early afternoon funeral of his elder brother, Arthur. The President planned to return to Washington following the services.

Eisenhower first used the specially assigned whirly bird last year on an experimental basis in the practice civil defense alert in which top executives were evacuated from Washington.

His helicopter was flown today by Maj. V. D. Olson from the Marine Corps base at Quantico, Va. In the Eisenhower party were press secretary James C. Hagerty and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, presidential physician.

Daytonian, 39, Faces Accusation in Slaying

DAYTON — Police have filed a second-degree murder charge against Jack Walden Kerstetter, 39, in the fatal shooting early Saturday of an insurance agent.

The victim was Faustin R. Breitenstein, 46, of Dayton. Kerstetter, formerly of Sandusky, told police he struck Breitenstein over the head with a .45 caliber automatic during a fight and the gun discharged accidentally.

Miss Grace McClure, 32, who was being held as a material witness in the shooting, was released.

Federal Ban Asked On Pay Television

WASHINGTON — Rep. Springer (R-Ill.) has asked Congress to prohibit pay television.

A bill introduced Monday by Springer would bar "charging a fee to view television in private homes."

The Communications Commission has asked advocates of subscription television to submit proposals for tests of the plan.

Chocolate Flavor Has Long, Curious Background Story

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
Home Economics Agent

There are many who should be grateful to Cortez for revealing the chocolate secret after his explorations in Mexico.

Chocolate preparations have a definite flavor appeal to the majority of people. There are almost as many methods to add chocolate flavor as there are words of praise for the flavor. There is a type to fit every need: Powder, for cooking or beverage; semi-sweet squares; German-sweet squares; syrup and decorative shot.

Chocolate items are the product of the fruit of a tree which grows in Central America and the West Indies. Now the trees are grown in South America, East Indies and Africa. The fruit is an 8-inch pod, weighing about a pound, which contains 25 to 40 beans.

Cacao is the term used when referring to the raw beans. Chocolate is the manufactured product when it appears in solidified form such as bars. Cacao is the pulverized bean from which part of the cocoa butter has been removed and it is a soft brown powder.

In the manufacturing process there are stages of shelling, drying, roasting, fermenting, evaporating, pressing and pulverizing. Before the liquor stage, which is a part of all forms, the tannin compounds are altered to produce the rich sweetness.

IF NOT KEPT cool and covered, chocolate becomes gray with age. Too high a temperature in cooking impairs the flavor.

In making substitutes, three level tablespoons of cocoa plus two teaspoons of fat are the equivalent of an ounce or a square of baking chocolate.

Mocha is a popular flavor made by combining chocolate and coffee. One super-special example of this is Frosted Mocha:

Combine 2½ teaspoons of instant coffee, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 cups chilled milk, and 1 cup of chocolate ice cream. Shake or beat until thick and fluffy. The blended results should make three servings.

Marinel Leist, of Watt St., has a prize-winning recipe for using chocolate to make Fudge. Her formula and method is:

Cook 4 cups sugar, pound butter (1 stick), and 1 can of evaporated milk to the soft-ball stage. Cool until the finger can be put in the mixture comfortably. Quickly stir in a 6-ounce package of chocolate chips, and chopped nuts, if desired, and spread in a flat pan or plate.

The Robert Barnes family of Williamsport have a formula for making Chocolate Cake which they have kept in the "never-fail" category for years.

The required ingredients are: 1 cup granulated sugar; ½ cup shortening—butter, or lard; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon baking powder; ½ cup cocoa—dissolved in hot water and same cup filled with cold water; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 tablespoon vinegar.

The construction process is: Cream fat with sugar, beat in egg. Measure cocoa, adding sufficient hot water to dissolve, then fill cup to full with cold water. Sift dry ingredients together, add to creamed mixture alternately with cocoa mixture. Add vanilla and vinegar. Bake at 350 degrees in one 9-inch square or two 8-inch layer pans.

MRS. BARNES says the family usually bakes this easy-to-make-never-fail cake in a tube pan and serves it warm with caramel sauce or whipped cream.

In the future, when preparing and/or partaking of any of the many chocolate possibilities, think briefly of the many steps necessary in making chocolate possible.

Most people know or have found that temperance can well be exercised in the use of chocolate, just as in any other food or drink.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By Clarence Cunningham

A junior beef judging contest is scheduled for Saturday, February 8, at the Ohio State University.

If you or a team of four members from your local 4-H club is interested in attending this event, contact the agriculture extension office prior to Saturday. This is necessary to determine the number of entries from this county and make reservations for the beef barbecue lunch.

We are limited to three county teams or one team per local club in the event being sponsored by the Ohio Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn Breeders Assn.

The afternoon program features A. E. Darlow, Dean of Agriculture at Oklahoma State University, speaking on "The Cattle Business and You."

For your mother, the morning program includes discussions on nutritional value of meat, selection of beef, care of meat and meat cooking.

Production testing, disease, and breeding problems are topics that may interest the father of the family during the morning program starting at 10 a. m.

4-H members with steer projects in 1958 are having the steers checked and marked this week and next week.

Like to ride? Have a pony or Western saddle horse? Interested in 4-H? Then why not attend the first 1958 colt club meeting February 17 at the Fairgrounds.

Emerson Brown, advisor of the club, would like to see and talk to all interested riding fans at this meeting. Bring your friends!

Construction Problems Go To New Panel

The removal and disposal of surplus water from rural land is seriously affected by major construction projects such as new highways, pipelines and railroads.

Tile lines already installed may be served. Lands not yet tiled may have no outlet unless it is provided during construction. Fill material may change natural surface drainage. In the past, planning for these problems was done directly with the land owner by those responsible for the construction.

At the last General Assembly a law was passed (House Bill 25) which established a method for presenting recommendations for adequate water management of land affected by the construction of new or relocated highways, underground cables, pipelines and railroads.

The Division of Lands and Soil of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Ohio Soil Conservation Committee were given the responsibility for:

1. Serving as liaison between the land owner and the authorities responsible for such construction. 2. Providing service through a conservation engineer in the Division of Lands and Soil to aid in the design of facilities that provide for soil and water management of affected land.

3. Recommending measures for soil and water management to the agency responsible for the construction.

A COMMITTEE, consisting of the local Soil Conservation District, County Agricultural Extension Agent, and the local Soil Conservation Service Work Unit Conservationist, is to be established in each county where water management will be affected by new highway and utility construction. The chairman of the local Soil Conservation District will act as chairman of this committee.

This committee will furnish general information to land owners regarding House Bill 25 as the need arises. It will plan for the procedures to be used in acquiring needed information. The committee will assist in assembling the required information and advise the conservation engineer on the drainage needs of the locality.

Recommendations for drainage needs will take into consideration soil surveys and land capability. The engineer will use this information to develop recommendations for adequate soil and water management. These recommendations will be submitted to the authorities responsible for the construction.

Chocolate Flavor Has Long, Curious Background Story

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
Home Economics Agent

There are many who should be grateful to Cortez for revealing the chocolate secret after his explorations in Mexico.

Chocolate preparations have a definite flavor appeal to the majority of people. There are almost as many methods to add chocolate flavor as there are words of praise for the flavor. There is a type to fit every need: Powder, for cooking or beverage; semi-sweet squares; German-sweet squares; syrup and decorative shot.

Chocolate items are the product of the fruit of a tree which grows in Central America and the West Indies. Now the trees are grown in South America, East Indies and Africa. The fruit is an 8-inch pod, weighing about a pound, which contains 25 to 40 beans.

Cocoa is the term used when referring to the raw beans. Chocolate is the manufactured product when it appears in solidified form such as bars. Cocoa is the pulverized bean from which part of the cocoa butter has been removed and it is a soft brown powder.

In the manufacturing process there are stages of shelling, drying, roasting, fermenting, evaporating, pressing and pulverizing. Before the liquor stage, which is a part of all forms, the tannin compounds are altered to produce the rich sweetness.

IF NOT KEPT cool and covered, chocolate becomes gray with age. Too high a temperature in cooking impairs the flavor.

In making substitutes, three level tablespoons of cocoa plus two teaspoons of fat are the equivalent of an ounce or a square of baking chocolate.

Mocha is a popular flavor made by combining chocolate and coffee. One super-special example of this is Frosted Mocha:

Combine 2½ teaspoons of instant coffee, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 cups chilled milk, and 1 cup of chocolate ice cream. Shake or beat

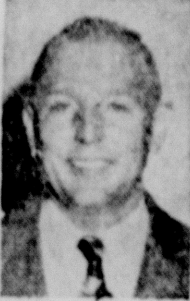

Farm Bureau Names Feedman

Robert R. Meckstroth, former branch manager of the Champaign County Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn., Urbana, has been appointed feed fieldman for the state Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn., Columbus. Included in Meckstroth's district will be 16 counties in south-central Ohio: Union, Franklin, Delaware, Madison, Jackson, Pike, Meigs, Fairfield, Scioto, Gallia, Pickaway, Hocking, Athens, Vinton, Ross, and Lawrence.

Meckstroth has been associated with the Champaign County Farm Bureau for three years, first as county commodity fieldman, and later as branch manager.

A native of Shelby County, he attended public school in New Knoxville, and received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Agricultural Education from Ohio State University. He taught vocational agriculture in Auglaize and Champaign counties for over five years before joining the staff of the Champaign County Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn.

Meckstroth also operated a general livestock farm in Shelby County for two years. He is married and has three children.

Meckstroth

until thick and fluffy. The blended results should make three servings.

Marinel Leist, of Watt St., has a prize-winning recipe for using chocolate to make Fudge. Her formula and method is:

Cook 4 cups sugar, pound butter (1 stick), and 1 can of evaporated milk to the soft-ball stage. Cool until the finger can be put in the mixture comfortably. Quickly stir in a 6-ounce package of chocolate chips, and chopped nuts, if desired, and spread in a flat pan or plate.

The Robert Barnes family of Williamsport have a formula for making Chocolate Cake which they have kept in the "never-fail" category for years.

The required ingredients are: 1 cup granulated sugar; ¼ cup shortening—butter, or lard; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon baking powder; ½ cup cocoa—dissolved in hot water and same cup filled with cold water; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 tablespoon vinegar.

The construction process is: Cream fat with sugar, beat in egg. Measure cocoa, adding sufficient hot water to dissolve, then fill cup to full with cold water. Sift dry ingredients together, add to creamed mixture alternately with cocoa mixture. Add vanilla and vinegar. Bake at 350 degrees in one 9-inch square or two 8-inch layer pans.

MRS. BARNES says the family usually bakes this easy-to-make-never-fail cake in a tube pan and serves it warm with caramel sauce or whipped cream.

In the future, when preparing and/or partaking of any of the many chocolate possibilities, think briefly of the many steps necessary in making chocolate possible.

Most people know or have found that temperance can well be exercised in the use of chocolate, just as in any other food or drink.

Construction Problems Go To New Panel

The removal and disposal of surplus water from rural land is seriously affected by major construction projects such as new highways, pipelines and railroads.

Tile lines already installed may be served. Lands not yet tiled may have no outlet unless it is provided during construction. Fill material may change natural surface drainage. In the past, planning for these problems was done directly with the land owner by those responsible for the construction.

At the last General Assembly a law was passed (House Bill 25) which established a method for presenting recommendations for adequate water management of land affected by the construction of new or relocated highways, underground cables, pipelines and railroads.

The Division of Lands and Soil of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Ohio Soil Conservation Committee were given the responsibility for:

1. Serving as liaison between the land owner and the authorities responsible for such construction. 2. Providing service through a conservation engineer in the Division of Lands and Soil to aid in the design of facilities that provide for soil and water management of affected land.

3. Recommending measures for soil and water management to the agency responsible for the construction.

A COMMITTEE, consisting of the local Soil Conservation District, County Agricultural Extension Agent, and the local Soil Conservation Service Work Unit Conservationist, is to be established in each county where water management will be affected by new highway and utility construction. The chairman of the local Soil Conservation District will act as chairman of this committee.

This committee will furnish general information to land owners regarding House Bill 25 as the need arises. It will plan for the procedures to be used in acquiring needed information. The committee will assist in assembling the required information and advise the conservation engineer on the drainage needs of the locality.

Recommendations for drainage needs will take into consideration soil surveys and land capability. The engineer will use this information to develop recommendations for adequate soil and water management. These recommendations will be submitted to the authorities responsible for the construction.

Ohio College Cagers Go On Scoring Binge

Half of 12 Teams
In Action Chalk Up
90 Points or More

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio college basketball teams went on a scoring rampage Tuesday night. Four of 12 teams in action scored more than 100 points and two others were in the 90s.

The average game figured to come out 92.7-83.5.

Ohio Northern and Cedarville led the basket barrage with a total of 228 points. Northern won it, 120-108, on the losers' court.

Besides breaking the Cedarville scoring record for total points in one game, another mark fell. The Yellow Jacket's freshman Dick Jacobs, making only his second start in collegiate play, tallied 45 points to top the individual record.

The game put both teams at 2-5 in the Mid-Ohio League. Cedarville is 3-7 overall and Northern is 3-8.

The other two teams to go over the century mark did it in a double overtime which saw John Carroll nip Defiance, 107-104.

The lead changed hands 25 times during the elongated battle.

Defiance's career scoring record was broken by Joe Hockenberry. He scored 16 points to run his total to 1,368.

The big individual stars, however, were Defiance's Joe Wilson with 34 points; Carroll's John Stavole with 32 and Dick Krebs with 28.

Defiance is 9-3, John Carroll is 6-3.

Wilmington continued to dominate the Mid-Ohio League and keep a perfect record going by defeating Ashland, 91-74, on the losers' floor.

The Quakers are 6-0 in the league and 10-0 overall.

Kent State, which has caused trouble all season with its slow and deliberate style of play, kept Bowling Green befuddled long enough to take a 60-51 victory in a Mid-American Conference tilt.

Jim Darrow, a sophomore who has led Bowling Green scoring all season, was held to 10 points.

Kent is now 2-3 in the conference and BG is 3-3.

Elsewhere around the state, Otterbein scored 53 points in the last half to down Marietta, 90-79, in an Ohio Conference game and Pikeville, Ky., came from behind in the last four minutes of play to drop Rio Grande, 88-79, in Jackson. Pikeville's John Butcher, one of the nation's small college scoring leaders, scored 43 points.

Canisius and Syracuse, upstate New York basketball rivals, have been meeting annually since 1945.

CAMPY CRASH—A stretcher with Roy Campanella on it and his smashed auto tell the story of the serious accident in which the star catcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers was involved at Glen Cove, N. Y. According to police reports, Campy was travelling alone when his auto, going into a bad turn, skidded and smashed into a utility pole and overturned.

WAITING FOR WHAT? — Mrs. Roy Campanella, wife of the Los Angeles Dodger catcher, and team official Matt Burns (right) wait and wonder what the future holds for Campanella, who suffered a fractured neck in an automobile accident. The National League's three-time Most Valuable Player is paralyzed from the shoulders down but is expected to recover, though he will never play baseball again, according to physicians.

Mantle's Demands Bringing Retort

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, looking for a $75,000 catch from the New York Yankees for '58, probably would drop it if the contract came in the form of a fly ball hit back over his head, manager Casey Stengel indicates.

The slight war of nerves developed after Mantle, who drew $65,000 when he won his second successive Most Valuable Player award last year, dropped a $75,000 demand at the Yankee offices and departed, unsigned, for Florida.

Stengel said: "Mantle should work out in center field. He's missing balls hit back over his head. I'm gonna have somebody hitting balls over his head down in camp, until he learns to do it right."

Troutman Is Drafted by SF Pro Team

George Troutman, Capital University's big 260 pound center and former Circleville High School grid star, was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers professional football team yesterday.

The former CHS product was selected on the ninth round. Teammate Ken Plegier was drafted by the Chicago Bears in the 16th round.

Troutman, playing fullback and center at Capital for the last four seasons, performed on the CHS gridiron during 1950-54.

Playing Days May Be Over For Campy

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella, Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher, lay helplessly paralyzed in a hospital today, his brilliant but injury-scattered career probably finished.

Campanella, three times the Most Valuable Player in the National League remained in critical condition after suffering a broken neck when the car he was driving skidded, overturned and crashed into a pole in the rain early Tuesday.

While physicians termed the four-hour operation which Campanella underwent a success, there seemed little doubt he would never play again.

"It could take anything from two months to years before he even walks again," said Dr. Robert Sengstaken, who headed the seven-man team that performed the operation.

"He won't be able to play before a year, and in my opinion, he would be foolish if he continued playing baseball."

Dr. Sengstaken said he expected Campanella, 36, to recover, but he said it is possible some paralysis may remain.

He said Campanella suffered a fracture and dislocation of cervical (vertebrae) 5 and 6.

"He is paralyzed from just below the shoulder to the toes," said Dr. Sengstaken. "He cannot push his arms out or grasp, but he can pull his arms in if they are held out for him."

praised Troutman for his size and speed which made him one of the toughest gridders in the Ohio Conference the past two years.

He is the son of the Rev. George and Mrs. Troutman, Groveport. Rev. Troutman formerly was pastor of the local Trinity Lutheran Church.

Final Surge Gives Buffaloes 81-64 Win Over Ohio Deaf

Coach Joe Corbett's Scioto Buffaloes cut loose in the second half to down Ohio School for the Deaf last night, 81-64. The game was played in Columbus.

Roger Knapp, regaining his scoring form after hitting for only 10 points against Pickaway last week, blazed away for 23 last night.

Knapp's production was high for Scioto but teammate Gary Clark proved to be a valuable man with 19 markers. Little Dickie Melvin, continuing his potent scoring pace, figured for 17 to give the Buffaloes three men in double figures.

Ohio Deaf's offense centered around the great performance of E. Hartman who rifled the nets for 35 points. His one man effort came on 14 buckets and seven foul shots. The big 6-2 cager was a hard individual to stop on his outside jump shots and layups down under.

HARTMAN'S teammate, Maxwell, gave some able assistance with 15 tallies but it wasn't enough to stop Knapp and company.

The score remained fairly close throughout the first half with Scioto leading by a narrow 34-30 mark at intermission. The Buffaloes opened up in the third period to take a 55-47 lead and then really zeroed in on the hoop in the final stanza to take things out of reach.

Scioto had difficulty hitting in the early stages, missing 16 bunny attempts. Coach Corbett's forces ended the evening with 30 buckets in 80 chances for a 37.5 per cent average.

Ohio Deaf won the reserve scrap, 36-46.

Alumni Five Nips Pirates By 52-40 Edge

The Pickaway Alumni last night defeated the varsity, 52-40 in a slow game in which both teams played as if they were old and tired.

In fact, the returning graduates showed more "pep and vinegar" than the Pickaway varsity has shown all season. Alumni trailed 14-10 at the end of the first quarter and 24-18 at halftime.

The Alumni couldn't find the right combination until the second half but in the third period they rallied for 18 points, holding a listless Pickaway to four points.

Pickaway played as if the bank-boards had a contagious disease and shied away, allowing Alumni to garner all the rebounds in the final half and waltz away with the victory.

Pickaway trailed 36-28 at the third quarter mark and scored four less points than Alumni in the fourth quarter to drop its 11th game against four wins.

Miller with 14 points and Pontious, 12, led the Alumni scoring. Eddie Evans and Pete Smith tied for Pickaway's scoring honors with 14 each.

Atlanta Earns First Victory

Raider Rally Stops
Good Hope,

The Atlanta Red Raiders won their first game of the year last night upsetting Good Hope of Fayette county, 58-52. Good Hope had defeated Atlanta 63-43 earlier in the year.

Coach Jim Shaw also set another 1957-58 record last night as he had his first man to score over 20 points. Buzz Gerhardt tallied 25 for the evening on seven field goals and 11 free throws.

Atlanta won the game at the charity line as each team scored 16 field goals, but the Raiders outscored Good Hope 26 to 20 at the free throw line.

Good Hope took an 11-7 first quarter lead and it looked as if Atlanta was up to its old tricks of starting poorly and ending poorly. But in the second period the Red Raiders kept fairly even with their opponents, scoring 18 points to Good Hopes' 23 for a 34-25 deficit.

WITH a minute gone in the third quarter Atlanta, led by Gerhardt, finally started and racked up 15 points while holding Good Hope to 11, narrowing the lead to 45-40.

The big individual stars, however, were Defiance's Joe Wilson with 34 points; Carroll's John Stavole with 32 and Dick Krebs with 28.

Defiance is 9-3. John Carroll is 6-3.

Wilmington continued to dominate the Mid-Ohio League and keep a perfect record going by defeating Ashland, 91-74, on the losers' floor.

The Quakers are 6-0 in the league and 10-0 overall.

Kent State, which has caused trouble all season with its slow and deliberate style of play, kept Bowling Green befuddled long enough to take a 60-51 victory in a Mid-American Conference tilt.

Jim Darrow, a sophomore who has led Bowling Green scoring all season, was held to 10 points.

Kent is now 2-3 in the conference and BG is 3-3.

Elsewhere around the state, Otterbein scored 53 points in the last half to down Marietta, 90-79, in an Ohio Conference game and Pikeville, Ky., came from behind in the last four minutes of play to drop Rio Grande, 88-79, in Jackson. Pikeville's John Butcher, one of the nation's small college scoring leaders, scored 43 points.

Canisius and Syracuse, upstate New York basketball rivals, have been meeting annually since 1945.

CAMPY CRASH—A stretcher with Roy Campanella on it and his smashed auto tell the story of the serious accident in which the star catcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers was involved at Glen Cove, N. Y. According to police reports, Campy was travelling alone when his auto, going into a bad turn, skidded and smashed into a utility pole and overturned.

WAITING FOR WHAT? — Mrs. Roy Campanella, wife of the Los Angeles Dodger catcher, and team official Matt Burns (right) wait and wonder what the future holds for Campanella, who suffered a fractured neck in an automobile accident. The National League's three-time Most Valuable Player is paralyzed from the shoulders down but is expected to recover, though he will never play baseball again, according to physicians.

Mantle's Demands Bringing Retort

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, looking for a $75,000 catch from the New York Yankees for '58, probably would drop it if the contract came in the form of a fly ball hit back over his head, manager Casey Stengel indicates.

The slight war of nerves developed after Mantle, who drew $65,000 when he won his second successive Most Valuable Player award last year, dropped a $75,000 demand at the Yankee offices and departed, unsigned, for Florida.

Stengel said: "Mantle should work out in center field. He's missing balls hit back over his head. I'm gonna have somebody hitting balls over his head down in camp, until he learns to do it right."

Troutman Is Drafted by SF Pro Team

George Troutman, Capital University's big 260 pound center and former Circleville High School grid star, was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers professional football team yesterday.

The former CHS product was selected on the ninth round. Team-mate Ken Plegier was drafted by the Chicago Bears in the 16th round.

Troutman, playing fullback and center at Capital for the last four seasons, performed on the CHS gridiron during 1950-54.

Playing Days May Be Over For Campy

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella, Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher, lay helplessly paralyzed in a hospital today, his brilliant but injury-scattered career probably finished.

Campanella, three times the Most Valuable Player in the National League remained in critical condition after suffering a broken neck when the car he was driving skidded, overturned and crashed into a pole in the rain early Tuesday.

While physicians termed the four-hour operation which Campanella underwent a success, there seemed little doubt he would never play again.

"It could take anything from two months to years before he even walks again," said Dr. Robert Sengstaken, who headed the seven-man team that performed the operation.

"He won't be able to play before a year, and in my opinion, he would be foolish if he continued playing baseball."

Dr. Sengstaken said he expected Campanella, 36, to recover, but he said it is possible some paralysis may remain.

He said Campanella suffered a fracture and dislocation of cervical (vertebrae) 5 and 6.

"He is paralyzed from just below the shoulder to the toes," said Dr. Sengstaken. "He cannot push his arms out or grasp, but he can pull his arms in if they are held out for him."

praised Troutman for his size and speed which made him one of the toughest gridders in the Ohio Conference the past two years.

He is the son of the Rev. George and Mrs. Troutman, Groveport. Rev. Troutman formerly was pastor of the local Trinity Lutheran Church.

Final Surge Gives Buffaloes 81-64 Win Over Ohio Deaf

Coach Joe Corbett's Scioto Buffaloes cut loose in the second half to down Ohio School for the Deaf last night, 81-64. The game was played in Columbus.

Roger Knapp, regaining his scoring form after hitting for only 10 points against Pickaway last week, blazed away for 23 last night.

Knapp's production was high for Scioto but teammate Gary Clark proved to be a valuable man with 19 markers. Little Dickie Melvin, continuing his potent scoring pace, figured for 17 to give the Buffaloes three men in double figures.

Ohio Deaf's offense centered around the great performance of E. Hartman who rifled the nets for 35 points. His one man effort came on 14 buckets and seven foul shots. The big 6-2 cager was a hard individual to stop on his outside jump shots and layups down under.

HARTMAN'S teammate, Maxwell, gave some able assistance with 15 tallies but it wasn't enough to stop Knapp and company.

The score remained fairly close throughout the first half with Scioto leading by a narrow 34-30 mark at intermission. The Buffaloes opened up in the third period to take a 55-47 lead and then really zeroed in on the hoop in the final stanza to take things out of reach.

Scioto had difficulty hitting in the early stages, missing 16 bunny attempts. Coach Corbett's forces ended the evening with 30 buckets in 80 chances for a 37.5 per cent average.

Ohio Deaf won the tesseve scrap, 36-46.

Alumni Five Nips Pirates By 52-40 Edge

The Pickaway Alumni last night defeated the varsity, 52-40 in a slow game in which both teams played as if they were old and tired.

In fact, the returning graduates showed more "pep and vinegar" than the Pickaway varsity has shown all season. Alumni trailed 14-10 at the end of the first quarter and 24-18 at halftime.

The Alumni couldn't find the right combination until the second half but in the third period they rallied for 18 points, holding a listless Pickaway to four points.

Pickaway played as if the bank-brooks had a contagious disease and shied away, allowing Alumni to garner all the rebounds in the final half and waltz away with the victory.

Pickaway trailed 36-28 at the third quarter mark and scored four less points than Alumni in the fourth quarter to drop its 11th game against four wins.

Miller with 14 points and Pontious, 12, led the Alumni scoring. Eddie Evans and Pete Smith tied for Pickaway's scoring honors with 14 each.

Atlanta Earns First Victory

Raider Rally Stops Good Hope, 7-0

The Atlanta Red Raiders won their first game of the year last night upsetting Good Hope of Fayette county, 58-32. Good Hope had defeated Atlanta 63-43 earlier in the year.

Coach Jim Shaw also set another 1957-58 record last night as he had his first man to score over 20 points. Buzz Gerhardt tallied 25 for the evening on seven field goals and 11 free throws.

Atlanta won the game at the charity line as each team scored 16 field goals, but the Raiders out-scored Good Hope 26 to 20 at the free throw line.

Good Hope took an 11-7 first quarter lead and it looked as if Atlanta was up to its old tricks of starting poorly and ending poorly. But in the second period the Red Raiders kept fairly even with their opponents, scoring 18 points to Good Hopes' 23 for a 34-25 deficit.

WITH a minute gone in the third quarter Atlanta, led by Gerhardt, finally started and racked up 15 points while holding Good Hope to 11, narrowing the lead to 45-40.

Atlanta held the Fayette count-

Where Now in Education?

Something Believed Faulty With U. S. School System

Editor's Note: Has the U. S. Education system failed in the face of Russian scientific achievement? If so, what can we do? Following is the first in a series of three articles exploring the future.

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Staff Writer

American education is under intense scrutiny in the aftermath of two great explosions.

One shot the first Russian satellite into space. The other left the first U. S. Vanguard dissipating its flaming force in the sand.

Why did the Russians beat us aloft? Why, if we were beaten, couldn't we match them when we tried?

Everyone has an answer. And in most cases, from the expert and the ordinary citizen, it boils down to one thing: something is at fault in our educational system.

Whether this is true, the public clamor for changes no doubt will bring science to more youngsters and someday probably will produce more and better scientists.

How will it be done? The Associated Press, utilizing its bureaus in all parts of the country to try to assess the science education picture in secondary schools, has found numerous ideas.

The survey indicated these prospective developments and trends:

1. Science and mathematics teachers will be required to have more education in their fields and to keep up to date.

2. The gifted student, allowed to coast in most schools while his slower brethren hog the teacher's attention, will be offered special courses to challenge his intelligence.

3. Science curricula will be made more attractive, but tougher. And school children will get a much earlier introduction to science, in many cases beginning in kindergarten.

But education denies that the Russian moon alone spawned new educational ideas.

"The role played by the Sputniks has been to create changes in public opinion which allow us to do things we have long wanted to do," said Dr. Giles Theilmann, director of instruction in Topeka, Kan.

"The Sputniks have made many people willing to spend some money and do some things."

"With Sputniks orbiting the earth, our education system sits back and smugly views its lavishly furnished home economics departments while biology, chemistry and physics departments are operated with baling wire and sealing wax," said State Sen. Joseph J. Yosko of Bethlehem, Pa. His was a typical indictment.

The senator demanded that school systems rid themselves of a philosophy which permits a "watered-down curriculum." He described as frills such courses as "how to drive a car, cross a street, dance, swim, play, set a table, wash clothes. . . ."

"We tried a program for gifted students in 1952," Dr. Theilmann said, "but we dropped it because of the public's attitude. Now some of the same people say we should start such a program."

But education also acknowledged shortcomings.

Iowa administrators agreed with figures in a masters thesis by Harold B. Crawley Jr., a science teacher. These figures show that 15 per cent of the state's high school physics teachers never had a college course in physics, that 21 per cent fail to meet state demands for teachers of science subjects.

Wayland W. Osborn, Iowa's director of teacher education and certification, said the unqualified teach because they qualified years ago when a person with a college degree was permitted to "teach any subject he had the courage to teach."

In Pennsylvania, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, state superintendent of public instruction, proposed a six-day school week, but found few sympathizers.

However, the climate is ripe for proposing changes.

New York State administrators have proposed a multimillion-dollar program to improve all public school teaching, with the emphasis on science and mathematics.

In Livermore, Calif., 237 members of a student body of 780 asked permission to attend summer school in a program designed to permit them to progress as fast and as far as possible.

A long unused telescope was discovered in the cupola of a high school in Manchester, N. H. Dusted off, it became the nucleus for a course in astronomy.

Ninety-three business firms bought scaled-down advertisements and the mechanical staff worked overtime to produce a 16-page Pearl Harbor Day edition of the Adirondack Daily Enterprise at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Publishers Roger Tubby and James Loeb Jr. turned over the $2,065 in profits to establish science scholarships for high school graduates of Saranac Lake and Lake Placid.

In the midst of change, however, educators are throwing up a resistance to "crash" programs. They warn that all students cannot be converted into Einsteins simply by placing them in a physics class.

Next: Education's reaction to Sputnik at the state level.

MICHAEL L. YANTES

EDWARD N. VANFOSSEN

Edward Nelson VanFossen and Michael Lee Yantes have enlisted in the United States Marine Corps, according to Marine Corps Recruiter, Tech Sergeant G. J. Zook, Lancaster.

VanFossen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney VanFossen and Yantes is the son of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Wright both of Tarleton. The two young men are graduates of Saltcreek Twp. High School.

Yantes and VanFossen are undergoing recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. Upon completion of their recruit training they will receive four weeks advance infantry training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

From there they will receive further schooling and training in the field of work to which they are assigned.

David W. Parks, 704 N. Pickaway St., has been promoted to Specialist 3rd. Class. He is stationed in Frankfurt, Germany.

Marine Pvt. Emanuel R. Hundley took part in an air-ground landing exercise by units of the First Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif., January 11 through 24.

Hundley is the son of Mrs. John

T. Smith, of 417 S. Clinton St. The main assault force, made up of the 7th Regiment, landed on D-Day January 20, and engaged the "enemy" forces.

Four days prior to D-Day, the forces landed on San Clemente Island, 45 miles off the Southern California coastline, to seize an airfield needed to accommodate close support aircraft and helicopters.

Army PFC Raymond S. Huggins recently qualified as an expert in firing the automatic rifle in Germany.

Huggins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight A. Huggins, Laurelville.

Huggins, an automatic rifleman in Company A of the 11th Airborne Division's 503rd Infantry, entered the Army in June of 1956. He received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

He was stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., before arriving in Europe in August, 1957.

The 19-year old soldier was graduated from Laurelville High School in 1956.

Physicians Say Gov. O'Neill Can Be Active Candidate

COLUMBUS (AP)—Physicians believe Gov. C. William O'Neill can expect a complete recovery from his heart attack of a week ago, and will be able to campaign actively for reelection.

Dr. George I. Nelson says that "I think that within any reasonable probability, Gov. O'Neill will be able to resume his duties as governor and to actively be a candidate for reelection."

Dr. Robert C. Kirk, another physician attending the governor, reported: "I think that the governor will get complete healing without any impairment of his heart and that he can function as well as if it (the heart attack) had not happened. This means he will have full effectiveness as governor and as a candidate for reelection."

Preparations for the governor's filing appeared not to be affected by the illness.

Ex-Disk Jockey Chided by Judge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood has placed Garland Baldwin, 40-year-old former Dayton disk jockey, on probation for three years for mailing obscene movie film.

"Why you would want to portray your marital life like you did, I'll never understand," the judge commented.

Baldwin was accused of mailing two rolls of color movie film to the Eastman Kodak Co. processing plant at Findlay.

Man Is Held In Deaths of Newlyweds

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Ravenna police officers will go to Elizabethtown, N. Y., to get James I. Milak, wanted in connection with the slaying last October of newlyweds Steve and Lillie Mikulak of Akron.

Ironically, charges filed by the dead woman are the basis for bringing back Milak, picked up Saturday night in Montreal.

Milak waived extradition and was brought across the Canadian border at Rouses Point, N. Y., Tuesday night. FBI agents took him before U. S. Commissioner Samuel E. Healey at Plattsburgh, N. Y., on a charge of being a fugitive from justice on an assault count involving Robert Tomin.

Healey set bond at $25,000, and Milak was taken to the Essex County jail at Elizabethtown.

It was not 100 per cent normal," Dr. Nelson stated, "but it was a great improvement over the last reading, so I think everything is very satisfactory."

William Cody Kelly, vice mayor of Cincinnati, had been mentioned for the Republican gubernatorial nomination as an "insurance" candidate, but party leaders appeared cool to the reports.

Tomin was Mrs. Mikulak's son by a former marriage. Mrs. Mikulak told police Milak, whom she described as a rejected suitor, had slugged the 21-year-old Tomin with a pistol during a visit to her home in September. She filed an affidavit against Milak Sept. 25.

Mrs. Mikulak, 43, and her 35-year-old husband disappeared Oct. 2, four days after they were married. Their bodies were found near here Oct. 12 by hunters. The bodies were in a ravine, and police said each had been shot in the back and in the back of the head.

Where Now in Education?

Something Believed Faulty With U. S. School System

Editor's Note: Has the U. S. Education system failed in the face of Russian scientific achievement? If so, what can we do? Following is the first in a series of three articles exploring the future.

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Staff Writer

American education is under intense scrutiny in the aftermath of two great explosions.

One shot the first Russian satellite into space. The other left the first U. S. Vanguard dissipating its flaming force in the sand.

Why did the Russians beat us aloft? Why, if we were beaten, couldn't we match them when we tried?

Everyone has an answer. And in most cases, from the expert and the ordinary citizen, it boils down to one thing: something is at fault in our educational system.

Whether this is true, the public clamor for changes no doubt will bring science to more youngsters and someday probably will produce more and better scientists.

How will it be done? The Associated Press, utilizing its bureaus in all parts of the country to try to assess the science education picture in secondary schools, has found numerous ideas.

The survey indicated these prospective developments and trends:

1. Science and mathematics teachers will be required to have more education in their fields and to keep up to date.

2. The gifted student, allowed to coast in most schools while his slower brethren hog the teacher's attention, will be offered special courses to challenge his intelligence.

3. Science curricula will be made more attractive, but tougher. And school children will get a much earlier introduction to science, in many cases beginning in kindergarten.

But education denies that the Russian moon alone spawned new educational ideas.

"The role played by the Sputniks has been to create changes in public opinion which allow us to do things we have long wanted to do," said Dr. Giles Theilmann, director of instruction in Topeka, Kan.

"The Sputniks have made many people willing to spend some money and do some things."

"With Sputniks orbiting the earth, our education system sits back and smugly views its lavishly furnished home economics departments while biology, chemistry and physics departments are operated with baling wire and sealing wax," said State Sen. Joseph J. Yosko of Bethlehem, Pa. His was a typical indictment.

The senator demanded that school systems rid themselves of a philosophy which permits a "watered-down curriculum." He described as frills such courses as "how to drive a car, cross a street, dance, swim, play, set a table, wash clothes."

"We tried a program for gifted students in 1952," Dr. Theilmann said, "but we dropped it because of the public's attitude. Now some of the same people say we should start such a program."

But education also acknowledged shortcomings.

Iowa administrators agreed with figures in a masters thesis by Harold B. Crawley Jr., a science teacher. These figures show that 15 per cent of the state's high school physics teachers never had a college course in physics, that 21 per cent fail to meet state demands for teachers of science subjects.

Wayland W. Osborn, Iowa's director of teacher education and certification, said the unqualified teach because they qualified years ago when a person with a college degree was permitted to "teach any subject he had the courage to teach."

In Pennsylvania, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, state superintendent of public instruction, proposed a six-day school week, but found few sympathizers.

However, the climate is ripe for proposing changes.

New York State administrators have proposed a multimillion-dollar program to improve all public school teaching, with the emphasis on science and mathematics.

In Livermore, Calif., 237 members of a student body of 780 asked permission to attend summer school in a program designed to permit them to progress as fast and as far as possible.

A long unused telescope was discovered in the cupola of a high school in Manchester, N. H. Discovered, it became the nucleus for a course in astronomy.

Ninety-three business firms bought scaled-down advertisements and the mechanical staff worked overtime to produce a 16-page Pearl Harbor Day edition of the Adirondack Daily Enterprise at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Publishers Roger Tubby and James Loeb Jr. turned over the $2,005 in profits to establish science scholarships for high school graduates of Saranac Lake and Lake Placid.

In the midst of change, however, educators are throwing up a resistance to "crash" programs. They warn that all students cannot be converted into Einsteins simply by placing them in a physics class.

Next: Education's reaction to Sputnik at the state level.

Upon completion of their recruit training they will receive four weeks advance infantry training at Camp Pendleton, Calif. From there they will receive further schooling and training in the field of work to which they are assigned.

Four days prior to D-Day, the forces landed on San Clemente Island, 45 miles off the Southern California coastline, to seize an airfield needed to accommodate close support aircraft and helicopters.

Army PFC Raymond S. Huggins recently qualified as an expert in firing the automatic rifle in Germany.

Huggins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight A. Huggins, Laurelville.

Huggins, an automatic rifleman in Company A of the 11th Airborne Division's 503rd Infantry, entered the Army in June of 1956. He received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

He was stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C. before arriving in Europe in August, 1957.

The 19-year old soldier was graduated from Laurelville High School in 1956.

Physicians Say Gov. O'Neill Can Be Active Candidate

COLUMBUS (AP)—Physicians believe Gov. C. William O'Neill can expect a complete recovery from his heart attack of a week ago, and will be able to campaign actively for reelection.

Dr. George I. Nelson says that "I think that within any reasonable probability, Gov. O'Neill will be able to resume his duties as governor and to actively be a candidate for reelection."

Dr. Robert C. Kirk, another physician attending the governor, reported: "I think that the governor will get complete healing without any impairment of his heart and that he can function as well as if it (the heart attack) had not happened. This means he will have full effectiveness as governor and as a candidate for reelection."

Preparations for the governor's filing appeared not to be affected by the illness.

Hal W. Conefry, O'Neill's press secretary, said the governor had planned for some time to file his petitions Feb. 3. The deadline is Feb. 5. Conefry quoted O'Neill as saying:

"I shall file Monday my petitions as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor."

"I shall campaign actively for reelection and I expect to be reelected."

Dr. Nelson said after checking the governor late Tuesday that his temperature reading was 98.6, his pulse rate 82 and his blood pressure 122 over 84. He said the latest electrocardiograph reading also looks "very good."

"It was not 100 per cent normal," Dr. Nelson stated, "but it was a great improvement over the last reading, so I think everything is very satisfactory."

Man Is Held In Deaths of Newlyweds

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Ravenna police officers will go to Elizabethtown, N. Y., to get James I. Milak, wanted in connection with the slaying last October of newlyweds Steve and Lillie Mikulak of Akron.

Ironically, charges filed by the dead woman are the basis for bringing back Milak, picked up Saturday night in Montreal.

Milak waived extradition and was brought across the Canadian border at Rouses Point, N. Y., Tuesday night. FBI agents took him before U. S. Commissioner Samuel E. Healey at Plattsburgh, N. Y., on a charge of being a fugitive from justice on an assault count involving Robert Tomin.

Healey set bond at $25,000, and Milak was taken to the Essex County jail at Elizabethtown.

Ex-Disk Jockey Chided by Judge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood has placed Garland Baldwin, 40-year-old former Dayton disk jockey, on probation for three years for mailing obscene movie film.

"Why you would want to portray your marital life like you did, I'll never understand," the judge commented.

Baldwin was accused of mailing two rolls of color movie film to the Eastman Kodak Co. processing plant at Findlay.
